Solutions for Construction and Real Estate Firms

You Manage the Project and the Client.
We'll Take on the Tech.

Keeping your hardware, software and networks running securely without downtime, and at peak performance, is a fulltime job. When you maintain expensive internal IT staff, they're most often stretched across every discipline - jacks of all trades, but masters of none. When you try and handle it "all" on your own, you only utilize outside expertise when there is a major issue. In many cases, the business impact has already been felt.

Corserva helps construction and real estate firms slash the cost of buying and managing technology, from strategy and planning to complete outsourced management.

● CHALLENGES

— Collaboration

Your office is wherever your feet are. You have to be able to access all your documents from contracts, to blue prints to inspection reports, and more. To support these needs, it is critical that your network be up and running at all times.

— Performance and Integration

All of your equipment and software has to run perfectly on its own, and be tightly integrated with other networked components. From project management systems to CAD/CAM, and from your back office to your customer portal, we'll keep you up and running with optimal performance.

Compliance

Regulations change constantly, and it's imperative that all your technology be continually monitored and upgraded to ensure that it meets current requirements. Specifically, you need to be on top of how your applications store, protect and transmit data.

Costs

You face three major IT costs. The first is the capital cost of owning and licensing technology. The second is the operational cost of keeping that technology running. The third is the cost delays caused by compliance or business interruption issues. Corserva helps to reduce and manage these risks across your IT ecosystem.
