

CMMC Readiness & NIST Assessments

Protecting US Government Supply Chains

US defense and government suppliers need to meet security mandates, depending on the federal contract under which they are working or bidding.

- ▶ Cybersecurity Maturity Model Certification (CMMC)
- ▶ NIST SP 800-171

Impacted organizations include subcontractors working for prime contractors or other subcontractors.

- NIST 800-171 (published June 2015)

Provides guidance as to how Controlled Unclassified Information (CUI) should be accessed, shared, and stored in a secure fashion

- CMMC (published January 2020)

A unified cybersecurity standard created to increase the security posture of the Defense Industrial Base (DIB)

GET READY FOR CMMC

The Department of Defense is gradually transitioning from the NIST 800-171 mandate to the CMMC framework. By 2026, all new DoD contracts will require compliance with CMMC.

With the CMMC framework, any company seeking compliance will need to be assessed by a CMMC Third Party Assessment Organization (C3PAO).

CORSERVA IS A CMMC-AB RPO

Corserva can advise companies in their preparation for a CMMC assessment by a C3PAO, which is the only entity authorized to perform assessments.

Corserva is a CMMC-AB Registered Provider Organization™ (RPO) and we are listed on the CMMC-AB Marketplace.

As an RPO, Corserva is authorized by the CMMC Accreditation Body (CMMC-AB) to provide pre-assessment consulting services to government contractors and other Organizations Seeking Certification (OSC).

CMMC Readiness

Corserva has created an easy process to enable you to get ready for a CMMC assessment and protect your government contracts.

As part of our CMMC readiness services, we follow these steps:

1. Assess and validate the relevant requirements of CMMC you will need to meet.
2. Perform an “as is” gap analysis to assess the maturity of policies, processes, and security controls in your organization.
3. Create a list of remediation steps to be taken prior to your certification assessment being performed by a C3PAO.

The end deliverable to you is a clear set of corrective actions to take to get ready for your CMMC assessment.

NIST Assessments

Our NIST assessment process consists of three phases:

1. Business process review
2. Technical assessment of systems and networks
3. Data analysis

During the assessment process, we will pose questions to you around CUI use cases.

At the end of the assessment, you will have a compliance baseline.

For each of the 110 requirements in NIST 800-171, we will rate your company as Implemented, Not Implemented, or Not Applicable, which can be used to develop an SSP directly.
