Tricor Hong Kong and Willis Towers Watson Announce Risk Management Partnership

Tricor Hong Kong, Asia's leading business expansion specialist helping companies grow from start-up to IPO and beyond, has partnered with Willis Towers Watson (WTW), a leading global advisory, broking and solutions company, to broaden its comprehensive portfolio of services with insurance, risk management and human capital solutions.

The partnership is founded on WTW's experience of delivering best in class workforce protection and risk transfer solutions. With synergy among their businesses, Tricor and WTW are committed to enhance their business services provided to both sets of clients. For Tricor, this is a continued step towards delivering stronger value to a client base of listed companies. For WTW, the partnership is another step in growing in its preferred segments and expanding their services across the region.

"For many years, Tricor and Willis Towers Watson have shared the same commitment of unlocking the potential of our clients' businesses and delivering service excellence," said Joe Wan, Chief Executive Officer at Tricor Services Limited. "We are excited to be partnering with WTW and collaboratively strengthen our business expansion offerings, in a joint effort to be at the forefront of change, growth and development in Hong Kong and throughout Asia."

Roger Steel, Managing Director and Country Head for Hong and Macau at WTW, said: "Here in Asia, disruptive technologies, increasing demographic and societal changes have surfaced new business requirements. Companies are also now facing escalating challenges, from the US-China trade war to Environment, Social and Governance (ESG) shock, and looking at ways to better manage their risks or rapidly respond to new risks and new investor demands. We are pleased to partner with Tricor and bring WTW's tailor-made risk and people solutions to Tricor's clients, helping them to grow with confidence and sustainably in an environment where uncertainty, changes and talent are the foremost concerns for leaders in organisations today."
