

2013 Advanced Facilitator Development Conference

Location:

New Buffalo Middle/High School
1112 East Clay Street
New Buffalo, Michigan

Date: June 24—June 28, 2013

Daily schedule:

Monday—Thursday 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.
Conference ends Friday 12:00 p.m.

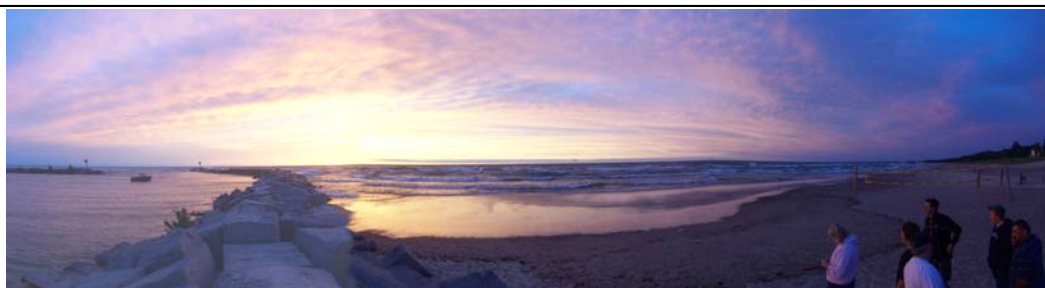

Start planning your summer vacation in the New Buffalo area today! Registration is $775 if you register before April 30, and $850 after. Plan to register before April 30 to qualify for the $775 discounted rate. If your SmartLab was new in 2011—2012, check with Shelley Nault to see if your tuition is already covered.

The nearest major airport is Chicago Midway. New Buffalo is about 1-1/2 hour drive from Midway airport. The airport in South Bend, Indiana is another option, although there aren't as many flight options. You will need a rental car, or plan your travel arrangements with someone who will be renting a car.

Creative Learning Systems will provide snacks and lunch each day.

Every summer AFDC is the highlight of a SmartLab facilitator's year. Every year we say it can't get any better than this, but the very next year it does. Don't risk missing out on this fantastic opportunity to share your successes and learn from the greatest assembly of technology educators in the world.

New Buffalo is a quaint little town on the shores of Lake Michigan where people come to sail, fish and relax. Your family will love it too, so plan to bring them along! You can explore antique shops, charter a fishing boat, explore area wineries, a new casino with a Hard Rock Café and much more!
