Materials used:-

Chameleon Color Tone Pens Fuchsia (PK5), Mauve (VO2) and Lavender (BV2), MISTI stamping tool, Indigo Blu stamps and Big Butterfly. Indigo Blu Flitter Glue, Silver Gilding Flakes, Memento Tuxedo Black Ink and Versafine Onyx Black ink, Lilac Thread, White Voile, Penny Black Lively die (leaves), DCWV White Embossed Stack, Shaded Lilac and Dusty Concord Distress Ink, Black Studio Acrylic Paint, White and Black card, Glue.

Instructions:-

- Place stamp onto Misti and ink with Memento Tuxedo Black ink. Stamp onto white card. To get a deeper impression re-ink and stamp again with the MISTI it automatically lines up exactly so there is no shadow). Use the magnet to hold paper in place (first image). First stamping impression – the butterfly has a light impression (second image). Re-inked gives a deeper impression of the image (third image).

- Color the butterfly using Fuchsia, fuse the brush nib of the pen for 10 seconds and use a flicking motion working from the centre of the butterfly out to the edge, as the colour of the pen darkens, make the flicks smaller and towards the centre. Then fuse the Lavender pen for 10 seconds and colour using a side to side motion working from the centre towards the edge of the wings. Then color the body with the Mauve pen without fusing.

- Once the butterfly is colored fussy cut out.

- Distress the edges of a piece of DCWV White Embossed card with Dusty Concord and Shaded Lilac ink.

- Dry brush Studio acrylic onto the edges of the embossed panel.

- Add Flitter Glue randomly to panel and butterfly and leave to dry.

- The glue dries tacky, once ready (it turns clear) add gliding flakes, I have used silver.

- Stamp sentiment using Versafine ink twice onto white card and then cut out alternate lines maximising the white space around the edge and then distress with black ink.

- Die cut several leaves from black card.

- Arrange leaves, thread, words and voile onto embossed paper and glue into place.
- Add the butterfly and mount onto the bag to finish.
