

Preparedness, Readiness, Response - Volume II (Professional Cleaning)

As the situation continues to unfold with COVID-19, more and more contractors are focused on the care and maintenance of the built environment. As a professional cleaning contractor, you may have already been asking, "How can I get involved?" You may have questions about the tools, equipment and chemistry necessary to disinfect or sanitize the various surfaces you clean for your customers.

As a professional cleaning contractor, you are in a unique position to aid your customers in creating or maintaining a happier and healthier indoor environment for their homes, businesses and other facilities. In addition, it's possible you will experience a demand for cleaning services like never before.

This pamphlet offers information to assist in preparing you for the opportunity of adding disinfection and sanitization to the other cleaning services you already provide.

Restorative Cleaning For a Healthier Indoor Environment

CARPET

- ▶ Pre Vacuum to remove as much dry soil as possible prior to introducing any chemistry or moisture.
 - ProTeam 1500 XP – 1600-2230
- ▶ Pre Spray the carpet with the appropriate preconditioning solution based on fiber type and agitate thoroughly with your preferred agitation method.
 - Bio Break Prespray – 1642-7561

- Oxy Buff Shampoo – 1683-2228

DISINFECTION

There are opportunities within and around the home, or facility, to offer cleaning and disinfecting of nonporous surfaces. These may include, but are not limited to, high touch areas such as light switches, door knobs, counter tops, bathrooms, TV remotes, vehicle interior handles and panels, etc.

Please click the following link for more information regarding products, accessories and application methods of disinfectants.

THIS IS NOT a comprehensive training document but rather a resource for tools and equipment that may be necessary to provide these services. You should review all manufacturer's instructions and guidelines regarding these products, and obtain additional guidance and training as necessary to familiarize yourself with the tools, equipment, and processes discussed here.
