

Dear Candidate,

PMA Companies is aware of fraudulent practices (commonly known as “phishing scams”) where job seekers are targeted by unauthorized individuals claiming to represent PMA Companies in hiring decisions. PMA Companies does not – either on its own or through an authorized third party recruiter – conduct job interviews through email or any other form of internet communication. PMA Companies also does not request job seekers to send money or provide banking information at any point during the interview process, nor do we request I-9 or W-2 information until an offer of employment has been extended via our on-line career site.

All communications with authorized PMA Companies hiring representatives will take place using an e-mail address that ends in @pmagroup.com or through our on-line career center, as a result of a position for which the job seeker has applied. Should job seekers have a question or concern regarding activities by individuals claiming to represent PMA Companies, please contact us at 800-222-2749.

Thank you.
