REACTOR

Featuring a stainless steel drop-point knife that's strong enough for camp chores and cleaning game in the field, the Reactor is an ideal multi-tool for hunters. The folding knife opens quickly and reliably at the push of a thumb stud, and tucks back into the handle when it's time to use the other tools: multi-angled needle-nosed pliers with a bolt-grip channel, a bottle opener and both flat-blade and Phillips screwdrivers. SOG, (425) 771-6230; www.sognives.com

BULLET PROOF BP2

At a time when trail cams are becoming increasingly technical, the BP2 instead meets the needs of those who seek simplicity. Just insert four AA batteries and an SD card, then turn the camera on for full-colour daytime images and infrared images after dark. Photo and video capable, the unit features eight-megapixel resolution, a 45-foot nighttime range and a one-second trigger speed. Primos Hunting, (601) 879-9323; www.primos.com

HL60R HEADLAMP

Featuring a micro-USB port for charging on the go, the waterproof HL60R has five output levels, allowing you to choose the best light for any situation. At the high end, the 950-lumen setting throws a beam out past 100 metres. At the lowest setting, you'll get 100 hours of illumination from a single charge. Fenix, 1-888-775-9996; www.fenixlighting.com

ZERO-GRAVITY

With this assembly-free layout blind, say goodbye to fumbling around in the dark on cold, early mornings. The uniquely designed chair keeps you off the ground while maintaining a low profile, and the flared sides provide room to hide away blind bags and other gear. And since there's no floor, the blind is light and easy to clean up. The Zero-Gravity's zippered flag doors are integrated, and the backpack-style straps allow for hands-free carrying. Alps, 1-800-344-2577; www.alpsoutdoorz.com

RACK-IT

Rattling is a long-proven strategy for bringing in aggressive bucks, but real antlers can be unwieldy to use and carry in your pack. Whether lightly tickled or smashed together to imitate fighting bucks, the easy-to-grip polymer Rack-It Rattling Tines provide realistic sounds in all temperatures. And they nest together, making them compact and easy to carry. Hunter's Specialties, (319) 395-0321; www.hunterspec.com

5 LENS KIT

Wiley X and Remington have teamed up to offer all-purpose glasses for hunters and shooters. Meeting strict standards for impact resistance, the kit's five interchangeable, differently coloured lenses can be swapped out to match the shooting and lighting conditions at hand. The lightweight nylon frame and rubberized nose bridge are designed for enhanced comfort and grip. Wiley X, 1-800-776-7842; www.wileyx.com

SCENT REFLEX

Synthetic attractants are the answer when you want to avoid urine-based scent products. The Scent Reflex line offers a range of synthetic deer scents in one-, four- and eight-ounce bottles for use before, during and after the peak of rut. All are designed to smell just like the real thing. Wildlife Research Center, 1-800-873-5873; www.wildlife.com
