

Ask the Right Questions

Talk to Your Doctor About the Right Orthosis For Your Condition

You've done the initial research and are now considering an orthosis as part of your rehabilitation. With so many makes and brands claiming to be the very best in custom-fit and custom-made orthoses, how do you know which one is the right fit for you? Here's what you need to know about orthoses before discussing with your doctor.

What does an orthotic brace treat?

Knee instabilities

Osteoarthritis (OA)

Plantar fasciitis

Heel/foot suspension

Post-stroke rehabilitation

Pediatric bowing deformities

Diabetes

Foot/ankle
contracture

Foot drop

Musculoskeletal injury

Will insurance cover the treatment?

Under Medicare reimbursement rules that do not cover preventive O&P (Orthotics and Prosthetics) care, patients typically receive a cheaper, less functional brace. What you and your doctor may not know is insurance companies will pay the same for a qualitative, more functional brace compared to a cheaper, inferior product!

At Anatomical Concepts, Inc., we're unique in the fact that everything we develop and manufacture is original. No cookie-cutter designs. No imitated styles. All of our products are authentic and proudly made in the USA, utilizing advanced technology and craftsmanship in delivering superior versatility and functionality. Doctors, nurses and rehabilitation departments across the globe have come to know and trust our solutions to get people moving and feeling good.

Please notify your doctor to note our product brand on your script and to be dispensed as written with no substitutes.

What kind of solutions does Anatomical Concepts offer?

Ankle foot orthoses	diabetes, foot drop, plantar fasciitis, foot/ankle contracture
Knee orthoses	contracture management, neurological injuries, fracture management, osteoarthritis (OA)
Elbow orthoses	musculoskeletal injury, elbow contractures
Knee ankle foot orthoses	pediatric bowing deformities, early stages of neuro-rehab patient management

Who can order an Anatomical Concepts product for my treatment?

- Family physicians
- Orthotists / Prosthetists
- Orthopedic Surgeons
- Physical therapists
- Podiatrists

Have questions?

Talk to your orthotist today and learn how you can experience the best support and comfort with an orthosis from Anatomical Concepts.