

BRADLEY PRIEST, CO-FOUNDER & CTO

Bradley is our CTO and Co-Founder. When he's not writing immense walls of code he's writing immense walls of code.

Bradley was the kid that was always pulling things apart and (sometimes) putting them back together again. After studying psychology and medicine, and realising neither floated his boat, Bradley found his calling in the world of technology.

Quite obviously a natural, starting TradeGecko was his chance to utilize all of his technical and creative skills, building market-leading software from the ground up. He now leads an ever growing team of talented developers and designers helping drive the shared mission of creating the effortless platform that the world transacts upon.