NATIONAL AFFAIRS* EDITOR YUVAL LEVIN TO RECEIVE 2013 BRADLEY PRIZE FOR OUTSTANDING ACHIEVEMENT
Second of Four Recipients of Tenth Annual Prizes Announced Today

Milwaukee, WI—The Lynde and Harry Bradley Foundation announced today that one of the four 2013 Bradley Prizes will be awarded to Yuval Levin, Hertog Fellow at the Ethics and Public Policy Center and the founding editor of National Affairs, a quarterly journal of public policy and political thought.

The award will be presented to Dr. Levin during the tenth annual Bradley Prizes ceremony that will be held at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, D.C. on Wednesday, June 12. Each award carries a stipend of $250,000.

Yuval Levin has had a distinguished career in public service, policy scholarship, and journalism. He served on the White House domestic policy staff under President George W. Bush and served as the executive director of the President's Council on Bioethics. His latest book, The Great Debate: Edmund Burke, Thomas Paine, and the Birth of Right and Left, will be published later this year.

"Yuval Levin is an outstanding public intellectual," said Michael W. Grebe, President and CEO of the Bradley Foundation. "His research and writing as well as his editorship of National Affairs have served as a guide to public policy challenges facing the country."

The selection was based on nominations solicited from more than 200 prominent individuals across the country and chosen by the Bradley Prizes Selection Committee.

"Through the Bradley Prizes, we recognize individuals like Yuval Levin whose accomplishments strengthen American institutions, in hopes that others will strive for excellence in their respective fields," said Mr. Grebe.

Founded in 1985, The Lynde and Harry Bradley Foundation is devoted to strengthening American democratic capitalism and the institutions, principles and values that sustain and nurture it. Its programs support limited, competent government; a dynamic marketplace for economic, cultural activity; and a vigorous defense, at home and abroad, of American ideas and institutions. Recognizing that responsible self-government depends on enlightened citizens and informed public opinion, the Foundation supports scholarly studies and academic achievement.
