

Bloomfield Park

Activities:

Take a Dip!

Bloomfield Pool is one of the most popular in the city, and swimming is more than just cool, it's healthy! <http://pittsburghpa.gov/citiparks/swimming-home>

Bocce Battles!

There are two bocce courts at the park, right next to each other. If no one is playing bocce, come up with a contest that uses the two matching courts.

Hit the Dek!

Check out the shiny new dek hockey rink at Bloomfield park. Find some friends and see if you can make up a game to play on the colorful dek!

Playing the Playground!

How many ways can you think of to run through the playground? Up the ladder, down the slide, up the ropes, down the stairs...keep on looping around!

History

Sprawling beneath the Bloomfield Bridge is one of the city's most urban parks. While its position is awkward, this park offers an impressive selection of recreational facilities, from Bocce courts to a new dek hockey rink. A centerpiece of the park is Paul J Sciollo II Memorial Field, renamed in 2009, in honor of the fallen Pittsburgh Police officer. Formerly Dean's Field, this was the childhood ballfield of famed 50's footballer Johnny Unitas.
