

Senior Product Manager

WellRight is a leading provider of corporate wellness software that helps companies help their employees become healthier. Our mission is to change people for good through positive habit formation. WellRight provides a fun, energetic, and supportive environment to work in. Our solutions are industry leading and built on the latest web scale, cloud technologies.

We are looking for a full time Senior Product Manager that is passionate about building high-quality software. Someone who is ready to make sure our products (Mobile and Web) are developed and appropriately evolve to meet the changing needs of the audience, designed with results in gaining/maintaining a competitive edge in the market and meet profit and business goals. If you are a motivated problem-solver with a positive, inquisitive attitude, willingness to roll up one's sleeves to get the job done and like working with highly creative teams then this job is right for you!

Responsibilities:

- Product Expert - clearly communicate product benefits to our users and internal stakeholders
- Responsible for gathering competitive industry and market analysis to understand customers needs, current trends and partnership opportunities
- Liaison between the Business (Account Management, Customer Service, Sales, etc.) and technical sides (Development, QA, etc)
- Manage the product development process from conception to final technical development
- Create functional specification requirements for new product features and enhancements (both Mobile and Web) that address the needs of clients
- Reports project status, scope changes and critical metrics to all stakeholders including senior management
- Identify and present innovative and creative product solutions

Requirements

- Ability to manage multiple priorities and effectively deliver in a fast-paced, dynamic environment
- Excellent interpersonal, writing, communication, and presentation skills
- Experience working with cross-functional teams
- Strong project management and organizational skills are a must - know how to conceptualize and execute a plan
- Extreme attention to detail and a passion for getting the product right
- Innovative problem solver who can quickly grasp concepts and turn ambiguous problems into clear solutions
- Experience designing wireframes and specification documents
- Minimum 8 years of technical product management experience, preferably with web-based and/or mobile products
- BA/BS required