

Your Contracts. Evolved.

Uncover contractual risks and opportunities with AI

IntelAgree is an end-to-end contract management platform that uses AI to automate the most costly and painful parts of your process.

Benefits:

- Accelerate decision-making with searchable data
- Reduce risk exposure and ensure compliance
- Shorten contract cycle time to close deals faster
- Manage higher volumes of contracts

Our machine learning reads key terms and clauses in your contracts so you don't have to IntelAgree can read any agreement, whether it's your paper or third-party. Choose from 100+ pre-built machine learning models to find general commercial terms, compliance terms, and more. You can also create custom models to find industry-specific terms and clauses.

Why IntelAgree?

Reduce risk with complete visibility into your agreements

Use our searchable repository, contract summaries, and custom dashboard to get a comprehensive view of your agreements. Plus, with free text and advanced structured search capabilities, you can instantly identify areas of risk and discover opportunities to negotiate more favorable terms.

Optimize the contract review process with machine learning

Our machine learning can identify, extract, and analyze key terms and clauses, adding efficiency to the negotiation process. Choose from standard “built-in” models or create your own, so you can find what you’re looking for no matter your industry or contract types.

Boost efficiency with intelligent automation

Intelligent workflow automation enables you to know where a contract is in its lifecycle—whether it’s awaiting internal approvals, in negotiation, stalled, or awaiting signatures. And with approval workflows based on contract terms and types, you can route the right information to the right teams at the right time.

Improve productivity with our add-ins

With our Word, Outlook, and Chrome add-ins and extensions, you can quickly create, negotiate, search, and upload new versions of contracts—all from the tools you’re already using today.

Get enterprise security & scalability with the cloud

Our Azure-based solution not only meets SOC 2 compliance standards, but it also supports secure and regular software releases. Our platform is accessible from anywhere, so you can get mission-critical contract information whenever you need it.
