

Crypsis Breach Readiness Review

Cybersecurity breaches happen. We all know that even the most secure of organizations can be compromised by motivated attackers resulting in loss of money, intellectual property, and reputation. But what if you could reduce or eliminate the impact by immediately detecting attackers and acting rapidly to mitigate the harm they can do? What if you could take back your network and not end up a breach statistic?

The Crypsis Group’s Breach Readiness Review (BRR) helps organizations assess their ability to Identify, Contain, and Eradicate (ICE) cyber security threats and provides them a road map for how to enhance their capabilities to be better prepared to self-detect and launch a rapid and effective response in the event of an incident.

HOW IT WORKS

Crypsis consultants work with your team to assess three core components of your information security plan — the people, the process, and the technology — to answer key questions about each.

WHY A BREACH READINESS REVIEW

✔ Optimize Existing People and Technologies

The Crypsis BRR provides insights you can use to gain a better understanding of your team's skills so that you can best leverage those skills in defining their roles and responsibilities. The BRR will also identify the capabilities of existing tools and solutions to confirm they are configured to best augment the people and processes you have in place.

✔ Identify Gaps in Your Security

The Crypsis BRR will bring to light gaps in your existing security program that reduce your team's ability to react to threats in your environment. With that information in hand, we will work with your team to build a plan to bridge those gaps using existing resources within the organization, helping increase your overall security posture.

✔ Reduce the Noise

Through the BRR, Crypsis helps your organization monitor the data that provides the most visibility into the state of security across your network. This ensures you are capturing a more precise picture of anomalous activity, allowing you to respond to potential attacks rapidly and reduce the likelihood of widespread compromise.
