ESW CAPITAL LLC COMPLETES ACQUISITION OF SCALEARC

Acquisition expands ESW affiliate Ignite Technologies' Information Technology Solution portfolio to deliver mission-critical, database load balancing capabilities

AUSTIN, Texas — January 18, 2018 – ESW Capital, LLC, the expert in enterprise software and acquisition strategy, today announced that it has completed an asset acquisition of ScaleArc, a Silicon Valley-based innovator of database load balancing software that provides continuous availability at high performance levels for mission-critical database systems deployed at scale. The ScaleArc business will become part of ESW affiliate Ignite Technologies, Inc. Terms of the transaction were not disclosed.

ScaleArc's leading technology enables an agile data tier, enhancing database performance, scalability, and security while providing new levels of real-time visibility for application environments, whether on premise or in a hybrid cloud. ScaleArc's capabilities power large-scale, transaction-based systems for a wide range of customers across industries including Dell, NASDAQ, Microsoft and Kaiser Permanente.

"The ScaleArc acquisition extends our offerings for enterprise-class, database solutions, following on our acquisition of Infobright DB in 2017," said Davin Cushman, Ignite's Chief Executive Officer. "Our team is very excited about the critical deployments that ScaleArc brings which power many of the world's largest companies, in a seamless enablement to maximize both availability and response time."

"We've been incredibly impressed with the depth of expertise and professional approach for both Ignite and ESW Capital since the beginning of our discussions," said Justin Barney, president and Chief Executive Officer. "Our team is proud of what we have delivered to our customers, not only in terms of technological innovation, but also our high-bar for support, and we are confident we've placed this in the right hands with the acquisition by Ignite."

The ScaleArc solution will become part of Ignite's renowned Prime Program, a one-of-a-kind benefit offering for customers which provides access to enterprise software and technical support to products across Ignite's portfolio at no additional cost. With Ignite's Prime Program, customers who are on current, Ignite license agreements receive purchasing power equal to their current spend with the Company, doubling their effective ROI, and reducing their corporate spend on technology.

The ScaleArc solution will also be upgraded to include improved levels of support and service including through Ignite's Platinum Support program. Full information on ScaleArc including access to the Partner Portal, is now available on Ignite's website at http://ignitetech.com/scalearc.
