CDMNext at a glance - a new user experience

The next generation of CEIC Data Manager, CDMNext, offers a web-based solution transformed from a generic data extraction tool to a robust interface that allows users easy access to CEIC's databases to create quick and insightful analyses. Our new user interface substantially improves usability, capability and performance compared to the previous web and desktop versions (WebCDM + CDM).

Our proprietary platform introduces a new "insight" concept for data discovery.

Users can leverage advanced visualization, data transformation, extraction and collaboration with just a few simple steps to help complete their workflow.
