You may not know Medici well, but we know you. We have spent countless hours with our doctors and know you didn't dedicate a decade of your life studying to drown in paperwork and administration. You did it because you love to help people and solve problems. We built Medici with doctors and for doctors.

We believe that a nation cannot thrive without the health of its doctors, so we spend all our time thinking about how we can make your life easier and safer. Medici is often described as the WhatsApp of healthcare, but it's so much more!

Most doctors are contacted by patients after hours. Conversely, 30% of doctors do not believe their salaries appropriately compensate them for the number of hours they spend each week to manage their practice. Patient callbacks, texts and emails only add to the busy work for doctors and their staff.

We Have the Solution

Medici allows you to respond to your phone, text, email and portal messages from anywhere – and get paid to do it!

Medici was built to change the daily frustration and long hours doctors spend in the office and chained to their desktop computers.

Eliminate the need to schedule appointments for low value office visits. Keep tabs on those patients that need it the most, offer follow-up consults and even refill prescriptions poolside, on the mountain or wherever you need to be.

WORK-LIFE BALANCE FOR DOCTORS

Unchain your practice from the office

Across the globe, doctors have turned to text, calls and chat apps like WhatsApp to communicate with patients, but they're not designed for healthcare. Doctors can't e-prescribe, e-refer, download consults, anonymize their number and most importantly, they cannot get paid using email or patient portals.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

PAYMENT & INSURANCE

Choosing Your Rate

Medici allows you to determine your consult rate when seeing patients within the app. There is a default consult rate of $25. Set your own consult rate at set-up. To revise your price, simply contact Medici support. Additional self-service payment options are coming soon.

Billing Your Patients

Bill your patients with the push of a button once a consultation is complete. Before billing your patient, we recommend that you ask the patient “Have I answered question?” before sending your eBill for the virtual services you provided. If you and your patient continue the consult on a different issue, you have the option to bill again.

Getting Paid

Securely add your bank information while setting up your profile within the app. Medici uses Stripe, a globally recognized 3rd party payment processor, to automatically charge your patients’ credit / debit card and deposit the consultation funds into your account.

Payments are processed and deposited weekly into your account on Fridays, based on a 7-day rolling basis. To understand which Friday you would expect your payments, add seven days to the date you closed your consult. You can then expect the funds to be available on the Friday of that week.

Insurance

Insurance plans are increasingly approving the reimbursement of virtual consultations. Medici consults are qualified medical expenses and can be assigned an allocated CPT code. Your patients who consult with you on Medici have the ability to include their insurance details while setting up their profile.

Once your Medici consult with your patient has been completed, an invoice with your practice code, procedure code, CPT, amount charged and the patient’s insurance details can be sent digitally to the patient. The patient can then transmit the digital invoice to file a medical claim for reimbursement.

OTHER DETAILS

Determining When Patients Can Contact You

You decide when you want to be available to your patients on Medici. When you are away, your patients can still send you a message allowing you to reply at your convenience. You can also set up your app to alert you when your patients reach out.

How Patients Connect With You

Medici was created primarily to connect providers with their existing patients. There are several ways to help your patients know that you are using Medici. You can send text or email messages to your patients with a unique code that will automatically connect them to you after they download. This code can be found in your profile settings after you have been validated. You can also work with Medici customer support if you would like assistance to securely text or email a larger list of patients. You can market your practice in your office and during in-person consults. Patients without your unique connection code can download the app, find your practice based on your name and location and request to be added by you. Some providers also use the app as an opportunity to acquire new patients. A complete profile with your photo and practice details will help new patients find you.

Integration With Electronic Health Records (EHR)

Medici does not sync with EHR systems. However, you can import your Medici consults into your EHR similar to how you upload other external records. All Medici consultations are stored in the cloud and accessible through the History section of your app. To import consultations into your EHR, go to Settings then select History. Select the consult you would like to export, then select “Export”. A time sensitive encrypted link (available for 1 hour) is sent to your email where you are able to upload a PDF of the consult into your EHR.

Professional Indemnity Using Medici

Virtual care is a low risk, high reward way to help your patients stay healthy and thriving. To date, the number of telemedicine malpractice claims worldwide is very small. And with the growing adoption of virtual medicine, many indemnity plans cover any treatment provided virtually just as they would an in-person consultation.

Providers using Medici are covered by an umbrella professional indemnity and cyber-liability policy. If a claim is brought against a provider on Medici and the provider’s existing professional indemnity tries to avoid coverage for their virtual care, Medici’s umbrella protection kicks in to indemnify the provider for up to $1 million per incident.
