Janus Alliance Offers Flexibility to Equipment Financing

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

(Temple, GA – June 26, 2012) Janus International Corporation has announced a strategic business alliance with Self Storage Equipment Financing, an Atlanta, GA-based company specializing in the financing of removable storage equipment such as doors and hallway partitions.

Numerous owners and developers have stalled their plans for renovation, conversion or new construction due to unreachable upfront investments. In today's banking environment, conventional routes to cash may be either unavailable or too costly. Self Storage Equipment Financing offers an alternative, with low down payments, affordable monthly payments and low interest rates. At the end of the term the equipment is yours.

"We see aligning with Janus International as a win-win for owners and developers who need new storage materials to remain competitive, but need a resourceful method of financing," states Self Storage Equipment Financing principal David Dixon.

As the leading supplier of roll up doors and self storage building components, Janus vice president of sales Ramey Jackson is optimistic about the alliance. "By offering our customers a new method of financing their doors and components, we foresee a benefit to the self storage business across the board. The easier it is for storage owners and developers to build, the greater the impact on the entire industry," says Jackson.
