Janus International Group, LLC Announces New Marketing Leadership to Support R3, New Technology, and the Company's Continuing and Rapid Growth

The leading global experts in the design, manufacturing, and installation of turnkey self-storage building solutions welcomes Christine DeBord as the new Director of Marketing.

Temple, GA—February 19th, 2018

The Temple, GA based manufacturer of self-storage and commercial doors, hallways, and other turnkey supply services and technology today announced the addition of Christine DeBord to the company's rapidly expanding global team.

DeBord comes to Janus International with a wealth of experience within the industry, having spent the last two years at PTI Security Systems where she drove a number of highly successful digital and branding initiatives as well as new product launches. She joins a team with a long history of providing the most trusted and easy to install steel products and other innovative solutions in the self-storage industry.

Earlier this year, Janus announced that well-known, industry veterans Troy Bix and Roc Hughes would spearhead the company's R3 (Restore, Rebuild, Replace) division while Terry Bagley would take on the role of President of Door Security and Automation. DeBord will be responsible for helping drive these initiatives from a marketing standpoint as well as supporting all International, Commercial, and New Construction initiatives.

"We are excited to have Christine join the Janus family as we continue to execute on our strategic vision to offer turnkey solutions to our industry," said Janus President and CEO, David Curtis. "As we continue to grow by offering new products and technology as well as through strategic acquisitions, we believe Christine's industry experience and knowledge of new technology make her a perfect fit to lead our marketing team."
