

PROVIDER CREDENTIALING

Conquering the Credentialing Headache

THE CREDENTIALING HEADACHE

Credentialing can be a headache, or often times a massive migraine, for private practices and clinics of all sizes and specialities. The process is often redundant and requires a lot of manual time and effort. As a result, providers are facing difficulties during the increasingly complex and tedious credentialing process. And sometimes those difficulties prevent providers from obtaining credentialing, resulting in providers experiencing consequences such as:

Inability to Collect Medicare Payments

Lost Revenue

Decreased Revenue Cycle Performance

Sound familiar?

We thought it might; that's why DrCatalyst offers credentialing services that can help.

YOUR HEADACHE RELIEF

You no longer have to take on the long and challenging credentialing cycle by yourself. At DrCatalyst, we have a highly trained team that is available to complete all of the credentialing requirements on your behalf.

If you choose to partner with us, our team of credentialing experts will:

Take Ownership

Taking on the credentialing process by yourself is a thing of the past. Our team will take ownership and provide you with end-to-end management of the credentialing process. You'll be in good hands - our team is very familiar with all the payers, the process and what the payers require.

Complete Application Submissions

On your behalf, we'll complete the application submissions with all payers (including Medicare, Medicaid and all the other commercial payers). We'll also handle EFT and ERA enrollments for you. You'll no longer have to worry about incomplete applications or other errors. We'll ensure that every application is correct and complete to ensure smooth processing.

Manage Payer Communications

Oftentimes, after an application is submitted, payers need additional information. And if you don't respond quickly, your application could risk being rejected. Our team will handle any back and forth communication or necessary follow ups with the payer, allowing you to focus on your patients instead of worrying about deadlines, paperwork and follow ups.
