New Patented Technology from Rochester Midland Quickly Removes Polymerized Oils

April 20, Rochester NY— Rochester Midland Corporation announces new, patented sanitation technology for the rapid removal of polymerized oils used in various markets, including Bakery, Snack Foods and Frozen Foods. Enhance O2 is a hydrogen peroxide-based product that has been stabilized. When used as an oxidative additive in caustic cleaning solutions, it is extremely effective in solving the new cleaning problems caused by the use of non-hydrogenated oils, which are polymerized at high temperatures. Used in conjunction with caustic cleaners, Enhance O2 offers break-through results in cleaning deep fat fryers. It can speed cleaning by reducing wash time from 15% to 30%, reducing downtime and increasing production. This new technology also provides environmental benefits as well as significant production and labor savings.

Reduces Environmental Impact

Enhance O2 is Nature's Scrub Brush[®]. It reduces impact on your waste stream by lowering caustic concentrations needed for cleaning. The principal by-products are oxygen and water. "Rochester Midland is committed to finding more sustainable cleaning methods while helping our customers improve their production process and lower their carbon footprint," said Jim Fifield, Senior Vice President, Food Safety Group.
