An inspiring and energetic presentation about management and working toward your strengths. Not all managers fall into the same cookie cutter—Dan honors that and encourages you to use the style that comes naturally to you but in the most effective way possible. Excellent presentation! I subscribed to his podcast and bought his book.

I want to keep his encouragement fresh in my mind!

Sarah Burnham, CEO, Redwood Building Maintenance Co., Inc.

Probably the one presentation that follows me every day now. It's easy to forget the power a CEO has on their team and how easily that power can be misused. I was inspired by Dan to act out positive and inspiring leadership.

Guy Nirpaz, CEO, Totango

Incredible insight into how we as leaders can be better in our daily lives at home and work. The inspiration received from Dan drove me to new levels that had immediate positive impact on those around me. Arik Housley, Owner, Housley's Century Oak Winery

I entered Dan's presentation hoping to become a better leader at the office. I left with a guide to be a better leader not just at the office, but at home and in life too! Dynamic, inclusive, and engaging. It was a life-changing experience!

Jared Patterson, Director of Energy Services, Rapid Power Management

I was captivated the entire way! After hearing Dan speak, I was left in awe just thinking about his past experience, the knowledge he's picked up along the way, his personality, and his exceptional ability to cultivate and grow better leaders in such a short period of time. I love the fact that he not only conveyed the progression of great leadership at work, but also how it is rooted to one's life outside of work, especially the importance of time spent with family. I am lucky to have met such a man and learn from his truly inspirational teachings.
