

Why I use Hushmail and Hush Secure Forms to communicate with you

1. I want you to feel secure

I chose Hushmail because I want to safeguard my communications with you. When messages contain information of a sensitive nature, it's important that I offer this protection for your peace of mind. If messages contain protected health information (PHI), then reliable security is also required by HIPAA.

2. Hushmail adds extra layers of security

You will read my messages to you by logging in to a secure webpage just like you do with your bank. Our messages are individually encrypted, which is why you need a unique passphrase to read them.

If you're interested in the more in-depth aspects of the encryption Hushmail uses, our messages are protected by TLS encryption while in transit, just like how your bank secures exchanges on their website. Hushmail adds another layer of security with OpenPGP encryption that secures our messages while in transit, upon opening, and in storage.

3. Hush Secure Forms makes your life easier

It's important to me that you're happy and that I'm making your life easier, not harder. Online forms make your interactions with my practice practically effortless. With Hush Secure Forms, I can design the forms I need, and you can fill them out on any device at any time before your appointment.

Information submitted through the forms is encrypted and secure. Hush Secure Forms saves us both time and ensures errors are kept to a minimum.
