The New Social-Media Credential

By R. Jeffrey Smith

March 14, 2011

Social networking has gone mainstream. On Facebook, the world’s biggest social networking site, more than 750 million people are members. But the most widely known social networking platform is Twitter, where 185.7 million people are members. The number of users is growing rapidly. In the United States, there are 52 million users of Facebook and 28 million users of Twitter. This is more than the number of people who use both Google and Yahoo. The U.S. population is 304 million. The Internet is a major source of news and information for people around the world. Social networking sites are a major source of news and information for people around the world. Social networking sites are a major source of news and information for people around the world. Social networking sites are a major source of news and information for people around the world. Social networking sites are a major source of news and information for people around the world. Social networking sites are a major source of news and information for people around the world. Social networking sites are a major source of news and information for people around the world. Social networking sites are a major source of news and information for people around the world. Social networking sites are a major source of news and information for people around the world. Social networking sites are a major source of news and information for people around the world. Social networking sites are a major source of news and information for people around the world.