CASE STUDY

The University of Wyoming

The University of Wyoming's Cowgirls Volleyball Team and Cowboys Wrestling Team recently renovated their locker rooms, accentuating them with The Athletic Edge's Pedestal Wood Athletic Locker. The Pedestal Wood Athletic Locker chosen by the University of Wyoming is an elegant wood locker with options of a wardrobe style with pocket doors or the open face upper cabinet with flip-up storage. A padded bench seat comes with each locker, providing the athlete comfort before or after practice. A convenient flip-up lid or pull-up drawer in each footlocker allows for additional storage.

When determining the University of Wyoming's locker choice, much was taken into consideration:

- the aesthetic vision of the locker room
- the amount of space available for each locker
- locker functionality

The Athletic Edge has also completely custom built and designed the University of Wyoming's wrestling lockers - custom built and designed to suit the needs for the wrestlers and the locker room.

Amy Sharpe, University of Wyoming's Design Engineer, worked closely with The Athletic Edge's engineers, project managers and marketing team set everything in motion the way she and the University of Wyoming envisioned.

"It was a pleasure working with the team at The Athletic Edge on the University of Wyoming projects. project managers and engineers at The Athletic Edge were readily available to answer questions and provide precise details for our planning and construction team. The 3D graphics that were provided with the shop drawings were very helpful in visualizing the final product," said Sharpe.

The dedicated Team Edge craftsmen constructed and customized each of 34 lockers for wrestling team with quality products and attention to detail. With custom digital print on an aluminum center panel, a backlit nameplate holder with custom nameplates, and a padded bench seat along with other features, these efficient lockers will benefit the University of Wyoming's wrestlers for years to come.

No matter if you're renovating your facility or starting from scratch, an Athletic Edge designed locker room will improve your athletic department, attract recruits and shine with our comprehensive lockers and design expertise.

"The renovated locker room is definitely a favorite of the team. New nameplates, accent lighting, speakers, and an outlet in every locker will make sure our team is recharged and ready for practice. Work hard enough and you'll see your name in lights one day! #GoWYO"
