Introduction to Buying Workwear

Ordering work clothing for staff can be an absolute nightmare. Trying to find workwear that's affordable, durable and comfortable can be tricky. That's before worrying about Personal Protective Equipment (PPE), staff preference and finding the right supplier to work with.

Make the wrong choice and the best case scenario is that you've wasted company money or left staff with uniform they're not keen on. Worst case is you didn't order the right PPE and someone's been hurt.

We're here to make the process as simple and straightforward as possible.

With Krowmark, you don't need to worry about budget because all of our workwear is affordable and we only work with the very best manufacturers to ensure every single item is high-quality and made to last.

We have uniform solutions to fit any budget. We've bundled our most popular items together to try and make the process easier, creating packs to suit companies of all sizes that have different requirements. Deliveries can even be packed for each employee to ease distribution when it arrives at your workplace.

Whether your staff work in an office, a freezing cold garage, a hot steamy kitchen or fighting the outside elements in construction, this guide outlines exactly the type of clothing that you need to buy.

Workwear for... Indoors

It's important to find the right workwear for someone's role. The office worker doesn't need steel-toe boots and the production team have no need for ties. Take a minute to consider someone's job role and determine exactly the kind of clothing they need.

Are they bending, reaching and doing physical work? Do they need garments that are looser fitting to enable them to do this in comfort without exposing areas to colleagues or customers? Do they work on their feet? You get the idea.

Also, think of your team, are they a mixture of ages? Do they range in body types? Do you want a brand that will flatter all ages shapes and sizes, or a range of products that have different styles for the staff to choose their own items?

PRODUCTION WEAR

For staff carrying out indoor physical work, clothing needs to be comfortable, flexible and practical. It should be stretchy and easy to work in because the last thing they want to worry about when carrying out a backbreaking task is their shirt being in the way or their shoes causing them to slip.

Kit your workforce out in our recommendations and production staff will have the workwear they need to be both efficient and happy at work.

Uneek Classic Sweatshirt

A bestseller and it's easy to see why. The Uneek Classic Sweatshirt is comfortable, cosy and practical. They're durable too so even after multiple washes, you won't find any of the available 14 colours fading.

OFFICE WEAR

An office uniform is better for your staff than a casual dress code. It encourages productivity and professionalism, builds team unity and helps to promote your brand to the local community. Staff might not be entirely thrilled with the idea but if you find the right office workwear for them, then they'll soon get on board.

Here are our recommendations for office workwear that will keep staff comfortable and looking professional.

Russell Tailored Shirt

Tailored shirts are an inexpensive way of making sure staff look their absolute best. Print your company logo onto them and your staff become walking adverts too.

Take a minute to consider someone's job role and determine exactly the kind of clothing they need.

Workwear for... Outdoors

Staff who bravely battle the elements every day need clothing that will keep them warm, dry and comfortable. Provide the wrong workwear and your team will be miserable and unproductive. You'll also have to think about the possible hazards that they face and provide suitable Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) to keep them safe.

OUTDOOR WEAR

Come rain or shine, these members of your workforce are outside every single day. The UK weather is unpredictable at the best of times, so we've recommended both summer and winter workwear that'll keep them warm and dry or cool and dry depending on the temperature. They'll definitely be dry.

WINTER WEAR

Dickies Thermal Top and Long Johns

For those bitterly cold days, make sure they're protected with thermal base layers from Dickies. The elastic waist makes them comfortable and it's easy to have everything else on top.

SITE WEAR

It's your job to make sure that staff are safe at work and this includes providing PPE. You'll need to assess the dangers that they're facing on the job and make sure they're wearing the hard hats, knee pads, respirators, safety boots or ear protectors needed to keep them safe.

Providing PPE is the easy bit. The hard part is actually making them wear it. If they do wear the PPE we recommend, then you'll see far fewer entries in your workplace's accident logbook.

Portwest Endurance Visor Helmet

Make sure everyone who's working or visiting a construction site is safe from falling debris with a high-quality hard hat. The Endurance features a visor to protect the wearer's eyes as well as their head. Choose from four colours, print with your logo and then make sure they actually wear them.
