

Vinder

Neighbors feeding Neighbors

These suggested social posts were generated by crafty garden gnomes on toadstools.

Feel free to submit your own versions here:

volunteer@veggievinder.com

Every year my garden produces more than I can eat and I hate seeing it go to waste in the compost. This year I joined @Vinder_app and have been able to make some side cash by selling my excess veggies. I was even able to trade with other local gardeners! Download the app:

www.veggievinder.com #dowhatsripe

Just found out I can make some extra money selling the veggies from my garden on @Vinder_app! You have to check out the app;

www.veggievinder.com

Hey all! You gotta check out @Vinder_app ! You buy/sell/trade homegrown produce direct from your neighbors! This stuff is beyond organic!

www.veggievinder.com

Why buy produce that was trucked from thousands of miles away and picked weeks ago when you can get it harvested day of from your neighbor's garden on the Vinder app? www.veggievinder.com

We're massive fans of @Vinder_app who are bringing communities together by connecting local gardeners with neighbors to buy/sell/trade homegrown produce. Download the app: www.veggievinder.com
#dowhatsripe

Vinder is an awesome free app that connects neighbors to buy/sell/trade homegrown produce. Reducing food waste and food insecurity one veggie at a time-- neighbor by neighbor. Worth downloading!
www.veggievinder.com #dowhatsripe

I stand with @Vinder_app and support our local gardeners. Stop buying imported produce! Eat local first! Download the app and discover homegrown produce: www.veggievinder.com

Did you know 99% of the produce consumed in Austin, TX is imported?! Support your local Growers. Eat Local First. Download @Vinder_app buy/sell/trade homegrown produce. #dowhatsripe