

An aerial, high-angle photograph of a modern office space. The office is characterized by a large, multi-paned glass ceiling that allows natural light to filter through. The floor is a light-colored, polished surface. Numerous people are seen working at small, square tables arranged in a grid-like pattern. Some individuals are seated at their desks, while others are standing or walking. The overall atmosphere is one of a busy, collaborative work environment. The image is overlaid with a semi-transparent teal color, and the text 'Astra Share' is prominently displayed in the center.

Astra Share

---

Gearing Up for Conference Season

Panelists: Lisa Hunter, Ad Astra & Sam Shea, University of Arizona - Health Sciences

Moderator: Chris Triplett, Ad Astra

Webinar Reminders

- Participants will be automatically muted
- 10-15 minutes will be allocated for answering questions following the presentation
- Please submit questions through the Q & A panel within the webinar

Q & A

- If you haven't already submitted a question, please feel free to use the Q & A box.
- We will do our best to answer all questions posed, but know that you can always reach out to your Account Executive and Client Experience Manager if you have further questions.

Upcoming Webinar Dates

No Webinar during October due to Aspire!

Next up is November 19 @ 11am CST with the topic To Be Announced Soon!

Engagement Opportunities

Ad Astra team members are coming to a city near you! To find out which conferences/events we will be attending, you can check our website at <https://www.aais.com/conferences>

Aspire '19 Users Conference in Kansas City is October 13-16

Register at www.aspireconference.com

