

Press Release

30 July 2019

Portiva and Mavention join forces.

Nieuwegein, 30-7-2019 – Portiva and Mavention are combining their resources and will continue together under the name Portiva. Our cooperation seamlessly complements our shared ambition for growth. With more than 100 Microsoft professionals we can now provide our clients with proven solutions in the field of digital workplaces, security and data & cloud apps.

More complete package of cloud services

We both already worked with proven Microsoft technology, such as Azure and Office 365. Because of the merger we will be better equipped with our cloud services to meet the security needs in the market. Portiva can see a hugely positive development in the field of Managed Services and adds its in-house developed products to the portfolio, such as Mavention 'Make' and 'Workspace'. Our clients will benefit from a complete package of services. By combining our expertise we can provide solutions that are even more stable and safer. Our knowledge and expertise in the field of Microsoft technology is now pooled together and this is to the advantage of our clients.

More projects with interesting growth paths

We want this merger to be as natural as possible. We want to make this a true cooperation, find synergy and grow closer together. Culture fit and identical values are important factors for this step. Together we look for 'the best of both worlds' for the integration of services, systems, products and, of course, our people. The merger offers more possibilities for unique projects, with more interesting growth paths for our employees. A personal approach in our projects will continue to be the basis from which we work.

Together for the best solution

Jeroen Mutsaers, managing partner at Portiva: "We are happy to welcome the Mavention team as our colleagues. We are looking forward to an enjoyable working relationship with the aim of implementing beautiful solutions for our clients.

Joris Engels, founder and Managing Director of Mavention: "Mavention is very strong in executing complex projects. Our relatively small size sometimes makes us vulnerable. This created the need for a strong growth of our company. Joining forces with our partner Portiva is, because of the similarities, a logical step."

We are in this together. Together for the best solution.

About Portiva, our story

Our personal approach makes the difference. We are convinced that solutions for digital workplaces, security and data & cloud apps must be proven. Safer. More stable. We do that together with our clients, trusted partners and Microsoft. We take pleasure in our work and will always put your interests at the heart of it. This determines our success and your success. Together for the best solution.
