Anchorage Mat-Su Community Plan

Aetna and the Pacific Health Coalition are teaming up to save members more

Since 1994, the Pacific Health Coalition has worked with area hospitals and other providers to help make health care more affordable.

Now, Aetna is joining forces with the Pacific Health Coalition to bring employers and their employees a new plan that offers the same benefits. It's called the Anchorage Mat-Su Community Plan.

Network savings for members

Getting the right care — at the right price — is important to a member's whole health. Share these new plans with your plan sponsors to help members lower their premium costs and tap into local network discounts. Members save an average of 9 percent more with these plans compared to our PPO Plus plans.

In the Anchorage and Mat-Su boroughs, the hospital network includes Alaska Regional Hospital and Mat-Su Regional Medical Center, as well as most of the doctors in Aetna's broad network. In the rest of the state, members have access to all the facilities and doctors in Aetna's broad network.

Alaska Regional Hospital

Different from other Aetna Alaska plans, this plan includes Alaska Regional Hospital as an in-network facility.

Alaska Regional:

- Is now recognized as a 5-star hospital by the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services¹
- Has a solid record of delivering high-quality, nationally recognized care²
- Has been fulfilling the medical needs of Alaskans and its visitors since 1963³

Remember, going out of network for care could cost members a lot more money. That's why it pays to stay in network.
