1NCE completes nomination of Supervisory Board with the appointment of Dr. Alfred Gusenbauer

COLOGNE, 07/26/2018 – 1NCE, the first Tier 1 IoT Carrier with a clear focus on low bandwidth IoT connectivity, today completes the set-up of its Supervisory Board by announcing the appointment of Dr. Alfred Gusenbauer, effective as of July 1, 2018. The former Federal Chancellor of Austria acts as Non Executive Director within the Supervisory Board of the company.

“We are delighted to welcome Alfred to our team and thus complete the set-up of the 1NCE Supervisory Board,” noted Bruno Jacobfeuerborn, Chairman of the Board. “With his international insights and industry specific experience, Alfred will help us to execute our strategic vision.”

1NCE offers fast, secure and reliable IoT network connections designed specifically for low-data-volume B2B applications. In cooperation with its partner and host network Deutsche Telekom (DT) AG, 1NCE helps its customers implement new IoT solutions as quickly and easily as possible.

“Alfred Gusenbauer’s appointment represents an important milestone in the young history of the company,” said Ulrich Schumacher, Non Executive Director of the 1NCE Supervisory Board and former chairman of Infineon AG. “This completes the composition of an exceptional Board that will guide the management team with proven expertise and foresight as entrepreneurs and mentors into Europe’s fast growing IoT connectivity markets.”

Dr. Alfred Gusenbauer: experienced industry advisor and former Federal Chancellor

Dr. Gusenbauer currently serves as Chairman of the Supervisory Board of Strabag AG, a European-based technology group for construction services. From 2000 to 2008, he was President of the Social Democratic Party of Austria, serving as Federal Chancellor of the Republic of Austria and member of the European Council from 2007 to 2008. Alfred Gusenbauer studied law, philosophy, political science and economics at the University of Vienna, completing his doctorate in 1987.
