Stanford Consulting Group, Inc. provides research, analysis and expert testimony in complex business litigation and regulatory proceedings. SCG also provides investigation of economic issues of concern to business or government entities.

Our consultants all hold doctoral or masters degrees in finance, business, economics or operations research; have years of experience in applying these disciplines to the analysis and resolution of real-world issues; and are frequently called upon to offer testimony at trial and/or at other legal, regulatory and legislative proceedings. We also work with prominent faculty at major universities nationwide to assemble the highly qualified teams necessary for dealing with complex business and economic issues.

Securities Litigation

SCG has assisted counsel with class certification, assessed market efficiency, provided expert opinion on causation, and/or determined damages, in more than 100 cases, including cases leading to trial testimony.
