1 I. INTRODUCTION

2 Plaintiffs Firerock Global Opportunity Fund LP, Oklahoma Firefighters Pension and Retirement
3 System, Robert Spencer Wright, and Robert Kromphold (collectively, “Plaintiffs”) respectfully submit 4 this memorandum in support of the motion for final approval of the settlement of this certified class
5 action (the “Litigation”) on the terms set forth in the Stipulation of Settlement dated June 2, 2016 6 (“Stipulation” or “Settlement”) and approval of the Plan of Allocation of Settlement proceeds.¹ The 7 $9.5 million Settlement is the result of hard-fought litigation and extensive arm’s-length settlement
8 negotiations between the Settling Parties with the substantial assistance of the Honorable Layn R.
9 Phillips (Ret.), one of the nation’s most well-respected and effective mediators of securities class 10 actions.² Plaintiffs believe the Settlement represents a highly favorable result that will benefit all 11 persons who purchased Castlight Class B common stock pursuant or traceable to the Registration 12 Statement issued in connection with the IPO on or before September 10, 2014.

13 Prior to reaching the Settlement in this Litigation, Plaintiffs’ Counsel thoroughly investigated 14 and vigorously prosecuted this case. Plaintiffs’ Counsel, among other things: (i) reviewed and 15 analyzed stock trading data; (ii) consulted with an expert regarding causation and damages; (iii)
16 reviewed and analyzed Castlight’s Class Period and post-Class Period public filings, annual reports, 17 press releases, conference call transcripts, and other public statements; (iv) collected and reviewed a 18 comprehensive compilation of analyst reports and major financial news service reports on Castlight; (v) 19 interviewed approximately 25 potential witnesses, including former employees with the assistance of 20 in-house and private investigators; (vi) drafted initial and amended complaints; (vii) opposed 21 Defendants’ two demurrers; (viii) researched the applicable law with respect to the claims asserted in 22 the Litigation and the potential defenses thereto; (ix) attended Court hearings and conferences; (x) 23 prepared and entered into a protective order; (xi) prepared and served numerous detailed document

24 _____
25 ¹ Unless otherwise defined herein, all capitalized terms have the meanings ascribed to them in the Stipulation.

26 ² See, e.g., In re Delphi Corp. Sec., Derivative & ERISA Litig., 248 F.R.D. 483, 498, n.14 (E.D. Mich.
27 2008) (speaking of Judge Phillips, “the Court and the parties have had the added benefit of the insight and considerable talents of a former federal judge who is one of the most prominent and highly skilled 28 mediators of complex actions”).

1 requests on the Defendants; (xii) conferred with counsel for Defendants regarding the scope and manner
2 of production of documents; (xiii) reviewed over 55,000 pages of documents produced by Defendants; 3 (xiv) responded to Defendants’ discovery requests; (xv) drafted a comprehensive mediation statement;
4 (xvi) reviewed and analyzed Defendants’ detailed mediation statement; (xvii) engaged in rigorous 5 settlement negotiations; (xviii) participated in an all-day mediation session with Judge Phillips; and 6 (xix) drafted and negotiated the Stipulation and other settlement documents with Defendants.

7 The Class’ reaction to the Settlement and the Plan of Allocation to date has been entirely 8 favorable. More than 29,400 Notices and Proofs of Claim and Release (collectively, “Notice Packets”) 9 were sent to potential Class Members and their nominees explaining, inter alia, the terms of the 10 proposed Settlement and the Plan of Allocation.³ While the deadline for Class Members to object – 11 October 7, 2016 – has not passed, to date, Plaintiffs’ Counsel are not aware of a single objection to the 12 Settlement, the Plan of Allocation, or to counsel’s request for an award of attorneys’ fees and expenses, 13 and no one has requested exclusion from the Class. Sylvester Decl., ¶¶15; Joint Decl., ¶¶4-6. For these 14 and the other reasons set forth below, as well as those set forth in the Joint Declaration, Plaintiffs 15 respectfully request that the Court grant final approval of the Settlement and the Plan of Allocation as 16 fair, reasonable, and adequate to Class Members.⁴

17 II. THE PROPOSED SETTLEMENT SHOULD BE GRANTED FINAL 18 APPROVAL

19 When considering a motion for final approval of a class action settlement, a court’s inquiry is 20 whether the settlement is “fair, adequate, and reasonable.” Dunk v. Ford Motor Co., 48 Cal. App. 4th 21 1794, 1801 (1996).⁵ A settlement is fair, adequate, and reasonable when “the interests of the class as a

22 _____
23 ³ See Declaration of Carole K. Sylvester Regarding Notice Dissemination, Publication, and Requests
24 for Exclusion Received to Date (“Sylvester Decl.”), ¶¶4-11, which is attached as Exhibit 12 to the Joint 25 Declaration of James I. Jaconette and Jonathan Gardner in Support of Motion for: (1) Final Approval of 26 Class Action Settlement and Plan of Allocation of Settlement Proceeds; and (2) an Award of Attorneys’ 27 Fees and Expenses (“Joint Decl.”), filed concurrently herewith.

28 ⁴ This memorandum focuses primarily upon the legal standards for approving the Settlement, and evaluating the Plan of Allocation. A separate memorandum is being submitted herewith in support of the motion for an award of attorneys’ fees and expenses. For a complete factual recitation, Plaintiffs’
Counsel respectfully refer the Court to the Joint Declaration.

⁵ Unless otherwise noted, citations are omitted throughout.

1 whole are better served if the litigation is resolved by the settlement rather than pursued.” Manual for 2 Complex Litigation §30.42, at 238 (3d ed. 1995); see also Natural Gas Anti-Trust Cases, No. 4221, 3 2006 WL 5377849, at *1 (San Diego Cnty. Super. Ct. Dec. 11, 2006). In making this determination, 4 there is a “presumption of fairness . . . where: (1) the settlement is reached through arm’s-length 5 bargaining; (2) investigation and discovery are sufficient to allow counsel and the court to act 6 intelligently; (3) counsel is experienced in similar litigation; and (4) the percentage of objectors is 7 small.” Dunk, 48 Cal. App. 4th at 1802; Cellphone Termination Fee Cases, 186 Cal. App. 4th 1380, 8 1389 (2010) (same).

9 The Settlement is presumptively fair. The parties extensively negotiated the Settlement at arm’s 10 length, under the guidance of a highly experienced and effective mediator, Judge Phillips. These 11 negotiations included an all-day mediation with Judge Phillips where the parties’ positions were 12 extensively debated. Prior to the mediation, the parties exchanged detailed mediation briefs explaining 13 their respective positions and submitted them to Judge Phillips. In addition to the extensive settlement 14 negotiations, Plaintiffs’ Counsel’s investigation and litigation efforts have allowed them to assess the 15 strengths and weaknesses of the Class’ claims. Class Counsel also have extensive experience and 16 expertise in the prosecution of securities class actions in state and federal courts throughout the country.
17 See www.rgrdlaw.com and www.labaton.com. Finally, although the date for filing objections has not 18 passed, Class Counsel are not aware of a single objection to the Settlement.⁶ See Joint Decl., ¶4. The 19 presumption of fairness therefore applies.

20 The Settlement also satisfies the standards for approval of a class action settlement set forth in 21 Dunk. There, the court set forth several factors to be considered by a court when granting final approval 22 of a settlement, including: (1) the settlement amount; (2) the risks of continued litigation; (3) the stage 23 of proceedings; (4) the complexity, expense, and likely duration of the litigation absent settlement; 24 (5) the experience and views of class counsel; and (6) the reaction of class members. 48 Cal. App. 4th

26 _____
27 ⁶ If any objections are received, Class Counsel will address them in a reply memorandum to be filed 28 on or before October 21, 2016, in accordance with this Court’s Order Preliminarily Approving Settlement and Providing for Notice (“Preliminary Approval Order”).

1 at 1801; see also Cellphone Termination, 186 Cal. App. 4th at 1389. As discussed below and in the 2 Joint Declaration, each of these criteria supports final approval of the Settlement in this case.

3 A. The Amount of the Settlement Favors Approval

4 Under the Settlement, Defendants have made a cash payment of $9,500,000 for the benefit of 5 the Class, with no right of reversion. This Settlement is unquestionably better than another distinct 6 possibility – little or no recovery for the Class. Indeed, even if Plaintiffs were able to successfully 7 prosecute this Litigation through trial and all appeals, there was no guarantee that a jury’s verdict would 8 have been more than the Settlement Amount, and it would have taken years before all appeals were 9 settled and the Class received any payment. See Wershba v. Apple Computer, Inc., 91 Cal. App. 4th 10 224, 250 (2001) (“Compromise is inherent and necessary in the settlement process . . . even if ‘the relief 11 afforded by the proposed settlement is substantially narrower than it would be if the suits were to be 12 successfully litigated,’ this is no bar to a class settlement because ‘the public interest may indeed be 13 served by a voluntary settlement in which each side gives ground in the interest of avoiding 14 litigation.’”). Furthermore, it is important to recognize that the Settlement was only achieved after 15 substantial litigation and that it is the product of each party’s evaluation of the strengths and weaknesses 16 of their respective case and the costs of taking the litigation through the completion of merits and expert 17 discovery, trial, and appeals. See Joint Decl., ¶¶39, 51. Class Counsel believe that at the time the 18 Settlement was reached, it was one of the largest recoveries for a Securities Act claim prosecuted in 19 California State Court. Based on all factors involved, an all-cash settlement of $9,500,000 is a highly 20 favorable result for the Class. Accordingly, this factor militates in favor of the Court granting final 21 approval. See Wershba, 91 Cal. App. 4th at 250 (“A settlement need not obtain 100 percent of the 22 damages sought in order to be fair and reasonable.”).

23 B. The Substantial Risks of Continued Litigation

24 Plaintiffs’ case against the Defendants presented substantial risks in terms of establishing 25 liability and damages.

26 1. Risks in Establishing Liability

27 Section 11 of the Securities Act of 1933 creates a private remedy for any purchaser of a security 28 if “any part of the registration statement . . . contain[s] an untrue statement of a material fact or omit[s]

1 to state a material fact required to be stated therein or necessary to make the statements therein not 2 misleading.” 15 U.S.C. §77k(a). Plaintiffs believe that they stood a good chance of establishing that 3 the Registration Statement issued in connection with the IPO violated the federal securities laws 4 because there were multiple undisclosed uncertainties and trends that were affecting Castlight that were 5 reasonably likely to have a negative impact on Castlight’s revenue and profitability that pursuant to 6 SEC Regulation S-K 17 C.F.R. §229.303 were required to be, but were not, disclosed to investors.
7 Specifically, Plaintiffs allege that Defendants failed to disclose implementation delays, increased 8 expenses, and an inability to maintain pricing consistent with the expected revenue growth on the 9 Company’s principal product, and that those alleged omissions rendered the Registration Statement 10 misleading. Joint Decl., ¶14. Defendants, however, consistently took the position that Plaintiffs could 11 not prove Defendants made any materially false or misleading statements in the Registration Statement 12 or that there was a duty to disclose any of the alleged omitted information. Defendants would also 13 argue that all of the allegedly omitted information was the subject of detailed and ample disclosures and 14 warnings in Defendants’ offering documents. While Plaintiffs would vigorously dispute Defendants’ 15 contentions, the uncertainty of continued litigation must be considered. As one court has observed:

16 It is known from past experience that no matter how confident one may be of the 17 outcome of litigation, such confidence is often misplaced. Merely by way of example, 18 two instances in this Court may be cited where offers of settlement were rejected by 19 some plaintiffs and were disapproved by this Court. The trial in each case then resulted 20 unfavorably for plaintiffs; in one case they recovered nothing and in the other they 21 recovered less than the amount which had been offered in settlement.

22 W. Va. v. Chas. Pfizer & Co., 314 F. Supp. 710, 743-44 (S.D.N.Y. 1970), aff’d, 440 F.2d 1079 (2d Cir.
23 1971). Thus, careful consideration of the numerous uncertainties and risks of proving liability and 24 prevailing on likely appeals supports approval of the Settlement.

25 2. Risks Relating to Loss Causation and Damages

26 Plaintiffs are mindful that if they were able to establish liability at trial, there was no guarantee 27 they would prevail on the issues of loss causation and damages. During the mediation, Defendants 28 argued that the alleged materially misleading statements and omissions in the Registration Statement did not in fact cause a substantial portion of the damages Plaintiffs claimed, and they pressed a negative

1 causation defense asserting the lack of any corrective disclosures and any statistically significant drop in 2 the Company's stock price following the IPO. Joint Decl., ¶50.

3 As a result, at summary judgment and trial, Defendants' experts would no doubt argue that all or 4 a substantial portion of the losses experienced by the Class were due to factors completely unrelated to 5 any conduct of Defendants, thereby eliminating any potential recovery. There was a substantial risk 6 that the finder of fact would agree with Defendants' contention that no damages could be linked to the 7 Defendants' conduct, or that damages were substantially less than the amount Plaintiffs have asserted.
8 See In re Warner Commc'ns Sec. Litig., 618 F. Supp. 735, 744-45 (S.D.N.Y. 1985) (approving 9 settlement where "it is virtually impossible to predict with any certainty which testimony would be 10 credited, and ultimately, which damages would be found to have been caused by actionable, rather than 11 the myriad nonactionable factors such as general market conditions"), aff'd, 798 F.2d 35 (2d Cir. 1986).
12 Although Plaintiffs were confident they could prove damages and rebut Defendants' negative causation 13 defense, Defendants' argument constituted a risk that Plaintiffs might not be able to prove damages 14 caused by the alleged material misrepresentations and omissions in the Registration Statement. Thus, 15 the amount of damages that Class Members would actually recover at trial even if they prevailed on 16 liability issues was uncertain. In re Tyco Int'l, Ltd., 535 F. Supp. 2d 249, 260-61 (D.N.H. 2007) ("even 17 if a jury agreed to impose liability, the trial would likely involve a confusing 'battle of the experts' over 18 damages").

19 Moreover, even if Plaintiffs were to prevail at trial, the risks would not end there. See In re 20 Mfrs. Life Ins. Co. Premium Litig., MDL No. 1109, 1998 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 23217, at *17 (S.D. Cal.
21 Dec. 21, 1998) ("even if it is assumed that a successful outcome for plaintiffs at summary judgment or 22 at trial would yield a greater recovery than the Settlement – which is not at all apparent – there is easily 23 enough uncertainty in the mix to support settling the dispute rather than risking no recovery in future 24 proceedings"). There are many cases in which a successful verdict has been overturned either by 25 motion after trial or an appeal. For example, in In re Apple Computer Sec. Litig., No. C-84-20148(A)-
26 JW, 1991 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 15608 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 6, 1991), the jury rendered a verdict for plaintiffs 27 after an extended trial. Based upon the jury's findings, recoverable damages would have exceeded 28 $100 million. The court, however, overturned the verdict, entered judgment notwithstanding the verdict

1 for the individual defendants, and ordered a new trial with respect to the corporate defendant. See also 2 Glickenhau & Co. v. Household Int'l, Inc., 787 F.3d 408 (7th Cir. 2015) (reversing and remanding jury 3 verdict of $2.46 billion after 13 years of litigation on loss causation grounds and error in jury instruction
4 under Janus Capital Grp., Inc. v. First Derivative Traders, 131 S. Ct. 2296 (2011)); In re BankAtlantic
5 Bancorp, Inc. Sec. Litig., No. 07-61542-CIV-UNGARO, 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 48057 (S.D. Fla. Apr.
6 25, 2011) (after plaintiffs' jury verdict, court granted defendants' motion for judgment as a matter of 7 law and entered judgment for defendants), aff'd, 688 F.3d 713 (11th Cir. 2012) (finding trial court 8 erred, but defendants nevertheless entitled to judgment as a matter of law based on lack of loss
9 causation).⁷ In sum, the risks posed by continued litigation were substantial, and they would be present 10 at every step of the litigation if it were to continue.

11 C. The Stage of Proceedings and Available Evidence Gave the Parties
12 Sufficient Information to Negotiate an Adequate and Reasonable
13 Settlement

14 This factor focuses on whether the parties had sufficient information to conduct an informed 15 negotiation for a settlement that adequately reflects the merits of the case. When applying this factor, 16 “[t]he question is not whether the parties have completed a particular amount of discovery, but whether 17 the parties have obtained sufficient information about the strengths and weaknesses of their respective 18 cases to make a reasoned judgment about the desirability of settling the case on the terms proposed or 19 continuing to litigate it.” In re OCA, Inc. Sec. & Derivative Litig., No. 05-2165, 2009 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 20 19210, at *39-*40 (E.D. La. Mar. 2, 2009). ““In the context of class action settlements, “formal 21 discovery is not a necessary ticket to the bargaining table” where the parties have sufficient information 22 to make an informed decision about settlement.”” In re Mego Fin. Corp. Sec. Litig., 213 F.3d 454, 459
23 (9th Cir. 2000). Moreover, the trial court “may legitimately presume that counsel’s judgment [that it 24 has the information necessary to evaluate a settlement] is reliable.” In re Corrugated Container Antitrust Litig., 643 F.2d 195, 211 (5th Cir. 1981).

25 ⁷ Other examples of verdicts for the plaintiff being overturned include: Robbins v. Koger Props., 116
26 F.3d 1441, 1449 (11th Cir. 1997) (reversing on appeal $81 million jury verdict and dismissing securities 27 action with prejudice); AUSA Life Ins. Co. v. Ernst & Young, 39 F. App’x. 667 (2d Cir. 2002)
28 (affirming district court’s dismissal after a full bench trial and earlier appeal and remand); Winkler v.
NRD Mining, Ltd., 198 F.R.D. 355 (E.D.N.Y.) (granting defendants’ motion for judgment as a matter of law after jury verdict for plaintiffs), aff’d sub nom. Winkler v. Wigley, 242 F.3d 369 (2d Cir. 2000).

1 As detailed above and in the Joint Declaration, by the time the parties reached the Settlement, 2 Plaintiffs and their counsel had sufficiently investigated and researched the merits of their claims and 3 Defendants’ potential defenses to determine that the terms of the Settlement are fair, reasonable, and 4 adequate and in the best interest of the Class. Counsel’s reasoned judgment was obtained after a 5 thorough investigation and vigorous prosecution, including analysis of more than 55,000 pages of 6 documents produced in discovery, and consulted with a loss causation and damages expert. Joint Decl., 7 ¶¶31-32. Prior to and during the Litigation, some 25 potential witnesses were interviewed, thousands of 8 pages of SEC filings were reviewed, and detailed complaints were drafted. Id., ¶¶25-26. Class Counsel 9 also prepared a successful demurrer opposition (in the main) and a detailed mediation statement.
10 Furthermore, the merits of the parties’ respective positions were extensively debated during settlement
11 discussions, including mediation with Judge Phillips which further highlighted the legal and factual 12 issues in dispute. Id., ¶¶33-35. The knowledge and insight gained through these activities provided 13 Class Counsel with sufficient information to evaluate the strengths and weaknesses of the Class’ claims 14 and Defendants’ defenses, as well as the likelihood of obtaining a larger recovery from Defendants had 15 the Litigation continued. Id., ¶¶48-54.

16 D. Balancing the Certainty of an Immediate Recovery Against the Expense
17 and Likely Duration of Protracted Litigation and Trial Favors
18 Settlement

19 The immediacy and certainty of a recovery is another factor for the Court to balance in 20 determining whether the Settlement is fair, adequate, and reasonable. See, e.g., Girsh v. Jepson, 521 21 F.2d 153, 157 (3d Cir. 1975). Courts have held that “[t]he expense and possible duration of the 22 litigation should be considered in evaluating the reasonableness of [a] settlement.” Milstein v. Huck, 23 600 F. Supp. 254, 267 (E.D.N.Y. 1984); Officers for Justice v. Civil Serv. Comm’n, 688 F.2d 615, 626 24 (9th Cir. 1982). Thus, the benefit of the present settlement must be balanced against the expense of 25 achieving a more favorable result at a trial in the future. Young v. Katz, 447 F.2d 431, 433 (5th Cir.
1971).

26 Approval of the Settlement will mean a significant, prompt recovery for Class Members. If not 27 for this Settlement, the case would have continued through the completion of document and deposition 28 discovery, expert discovery, summary judgment, trial, and likely appeal. A trial would have occupied a

1 number of attorneys for many weeks and would have required substantial and costly expert testimony 2 on both sides. Furthermore, a judgment favorable to the Class, in light of the contested nature of 3 virtually every aspect of this case, would unquestionably be the subject of post-trial motions and further 4 appeals, which could prolong the case for several more years. See, e.g., Warner Commc'ns, 618 F.
5 Supp. at 745 (delay from appeals is a factor to be considered). Therefore, delay, not just at the trial 6 stage, but through post-trial motions and the appellate process as well, could force Class Members to 7 wait many more years for any recovery, further reducing its value. Settlement of this Litigation ensures 8 an immediate recovery and eliminates the risk of no recovery at all. See In re Broadwing, Inc. ERISA
9 Litig., 252 F.R.D. 369, 373-74 (S.D. Ohio 2006) (explaining “the difficulty Plaintiffs would encounter 10 in proving their claims, the substantial litigation expenses, and a possible delay in recovery due to the 11 appellate process, provide justifications for this Court’s approval of the proposed Settlement”).

12 As the Ninth Circuit has made clear, the very essence of a settlement agreement is compromise, 13 “a yielding of absolutes and an abandoning of highest hopes.” Officers for Justice, 688 F.2d at 624.
14 “Naturally, the agreement reached normally embodies a compromise; in exchange for the saving of 15 cost and elimination of risk, the parties each give up something they might have won had they 16 proceeded with litigation.” Id.; see also Ellis v. Naval Air Rework Facility, 87 F.R.D. 15, 19 (N.D.
17 Cal. 1980) (“[a]s a quid pro quo for not having to undergo the uncertainties and expenses of litigation, 18 the plaintiffs must be willing to moderate the measure of their demands”), aff’d, 661 F.2d 939 (9th Cir.
19 1981). Accordingly, the fact that the Class potentially could have achieved a greater recovery after trial 20 does not preclude the Court from finding that the Settlement is within a “range of reasonableness” for 21 approval. E.g., Warner Commc'ns, 618 F. Supp. at 745.

22 E. The Recommendations of Experienced Counsel Heavily Favor Approval
23 of the Settlement

24 The views of the attorneys actively conducting the litigation, while not conclusive, are “entitled 25 to significant weight” when evaluating a settlement. Fisher Bros. v. Cambridge-Lee Indus., Inc., 630 F.
26 Supp. 482, 488 (E.D. Pa. 1985); Ellis, 87 F.R.D. at 18 (“the fact that experienced counsel involved in 27 the case approved the settlement after hard-fought negotiations is entitled to considerable weight”); 28 Dunk, 48 Cal. App. 4th at 1802. Indeed, as one court recognized, “[t]he recommendations of plaintiffs’

1 counsel should be given a presumption of reasonableness.” In re Omnivision Techs., 559 F. Supp. 2d 2 1036, 1043 (N.D. Cal. 2007).

3 Class Counsel are well-known for their experience and success in complex and class action
4 litigation and fully support the Settlement as in the best interest of the Class. This factor heavily favors 5 this Court’s approval of the Settlement.

6 F. The Reaction of the Class Supports Approval of the Settlement

7 A court may also consider the reaction of the class in determining whether to approve a 8 settlement. Dunk, 48 Cal. App. 4th at 1801; Brotherton v. Cleveland, 141 F. Supp. 2d 894, 906 (S.D.
9 Ohio 2001). A “relatively small number” of objections is “an indication of a settlement’s fairness.” 10 Brotherton, 141 F. Supp. 2d at 906 (citing Herbert Newberg & Alba Conte, 2 Newberg on Class Actions 11 §11.48 (3d ed. 1992)); see also Meyenburg v. Exxon Mobil Corp., No. 3:05-cv-15-DGW, 2006 U.S.
12 Dist. LEXIS 97057, at *18 (S.D. Ill. June 6, 2006) (nine objections is a “minuscule” amount).
13 However, “[t]he fact that some class members object to the Settlement does not by itself prevent the 14 court from approving the agreement.” Brotherton, 141 F. Supp. 2d at 906.

15 In this case, the Class was notified of the Settlement by First-Class Mail, publication, and the 16 Internet. Over 29,400 copies of the Notice Packet were sent to potential Class Members and nominees 17 (Sylvester Decl., ¶11) and the Summary Notice was transmitted over the PR Newswire and published in 18 The Wall Street Journal on August 11, 2016. Id., ¶14. In addition, a dedicated website, 19 www.castlightshareholderlitigation.com, was created and all relevant documents and dates were (and 20 are) posted thereon. Id., ¶13.

21 While the time for objections has not yet expired, to date, no Class Member has objected (see 22 Joint Decl., ¶4), and no Class Member has requested exclusion from the Class. Sylvester Decl., ¶15.
23 Thus, the reaction of the Class weighs heavily in favor of approving the Settlement. See Nat’l Rural 24 Telecommc’ns Coop. v. DIRECTV, Inc., 221 F.R.D. 523, 529 (C.D. Cal. 2004) (absence of large 25 number of objections raises a strong presumption settlement is fair to the class); Dunk, 48 Cal. App. 4th 26 at 1802 (one of the factors leading to a presumption that the settlement is fair, reasonable and adequate 27 is that “the percentage of objectors is small”).

1 Each of the above factors fully supports a finding that the Settlement is fair, reasonable, and 2 adequate. Accordingly, Plaintiffs respectfully request that the Court approve the Settlement.

3 III. THE PLAN OF ALLOCATION IS FAIR, REASONABLE, AND ADEQUATE
4 AND SHOULD BE APPROVED BY THE COURT

5 The objective of a plan of allocation is to provide an equitable basis upon which to distribute the 6 settlement fund among eligible class members. See Beecher v. Able, 575 F.2d 1010, 1016 (2d Cir.
7 1978) (courts enjoy “broad supervisory powers over the administration of class-action settlements to 8 allocate the proceeds among the claiming class members . . . equitably”); accord In re Chicken Antitrust
9 Litig. Am. Poultry, 669 F.2d 228, 238 (5th Cir. 1982). Assessment of the plan of allocation is governed 10 by the same standards of review applicable to the settlement as a whole – the plan must be fair, 11 reasonable, and adequate. Class Plaintiffs v. Seattle, 955 F.2d 1268, 1284 (9th Cir. 1992). An 12 allocation formula must only have a reasonable, rational basis, particularly if recommended by 13 “experienced and competent” plaintiffs’ counsel. White v. NFL, 822 F. Supp. 1389, 1420-24 (D. Minn.
14 1993); In re Am. Bank Note Holographics Sec. Litig., 127 F. Supp. 2d 418, 429-30 (S.D.N.Y. 2001).
15 Because they tend to mirror the complaints’ allegations, “plans that allocate money depending on the 16 timing of purchases and sales of the securities at issue are common.” In re Datatec Sys. Inc. Sec. Litig., 17 No. 04-CV-525 (GEB), 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 87428, at *15 (D.N.J. Nov. 28, 2007).

18 Here, the Plan of Allocation was developed with the assistance of Class Counsel’s damages 19 consultant, and it reflects an assessment of the damages that could have been recovered under the 20 theories asserted by Plaintiffs in this case. See Joint Decl., ¶¶42-44. The Plan of Allocation will, 21 therefore, result in an equitable distribution of the proceeds among Class Members who submit valid 22 claims. As a result, Plaintiffs respectfully submit that the Plan of Allocation is a fair and reasonable 23 method for allocating the Net Settlement Fund among the Members of the Class. See id.

1 IV. CONCLUSION

2 For reasons set forth above and in the declarations submitted in conjunction herewith, Plaintiffs 3 respectfully request that the Court grant final approval of the Settlement and the Plan of Allocation.
