A RADICAL REDUCTION IN QUANTITY CAN MEAN A SIGNIFICANT UPGRADE IN QUALITY

- Friedrich von Borries

“I need privacy and daylight. Furniture support. Dry erase boards. Tack boards...” They could all be necessary in one office. DIRT glass and face-tile walls all connect together the same way and are open to interpretation. You determine the look, feel and function of the space – not the walls.

Every day we produce something completely different from the day before. By having parametric engineering it allows you to create the perfect walls for your space. More glass. More privacy. More places to hang things. Best module size for the building shape... You decide. Not us.

If this is starting to sound like custom manufacturing you are right. However, it doesn't come with a custom price or time frame. All this comes to you on the fastest manufacturing schedule in the business. In most cases just four-weeks.
