

Burnham Nationwide is the Industry Leader

Burnham Nationwide has over 25 years of experience helping clients obtain all the necessary permits and approvals for complex construction projects, and we operate in over 3,000 cities across the country. Our clients include Fortune 500 companies as well as some of the leading development and architecture firms. At Burnham, our experienced project managers provide expert guidance and handle communication with all project stakeholders, including regulating entities, design teams, and construction firms.

Burnham is San Francisco's Expert in Permit Management

Burnham Nationwide is the premier specialist in facilitating permits for the San Francisco Bay Area. Operating in Northern California for the past decade, Burnham's streamlined and transparent process supports our ability to develop effective and efficient strategies for any project.

We take ownership of your project whether an entirely new, complex office tower going through standard permit review or a residential building remodel requiring counter plan check.

We take charge of securing all the necessary approvals required for permit issuance to make sure your project stays on schedule and within your budget.

Our proactive and systematic approach, developed through decades of experience, expedites the entire permit process.

We leverage our knowledge of California and municipal building codes, as well as other relevant requirements, to conduct plan reviews and advise you on your project.

Burnham archives and tracks all your documents in our secure, state-of-the-art database which completely aligns with the San Francisco Building Department Inspection online portal.

Our wide-ranging services include due diligence support and assistance with licenses and discrete permits, such as historic preservation approvals, noise variance permits, contractor licensing, street space permits, and traffic approvals.

Our highly skilled project managers have expertise in all phases of the permit process, and the same project manager works with you through the entire life of the project.

We enable all project team members to do their job better and are always available for communication on your project, whether it's over the phone, email, or in person.
