

FROM MILITARY TO MANUFACTURING

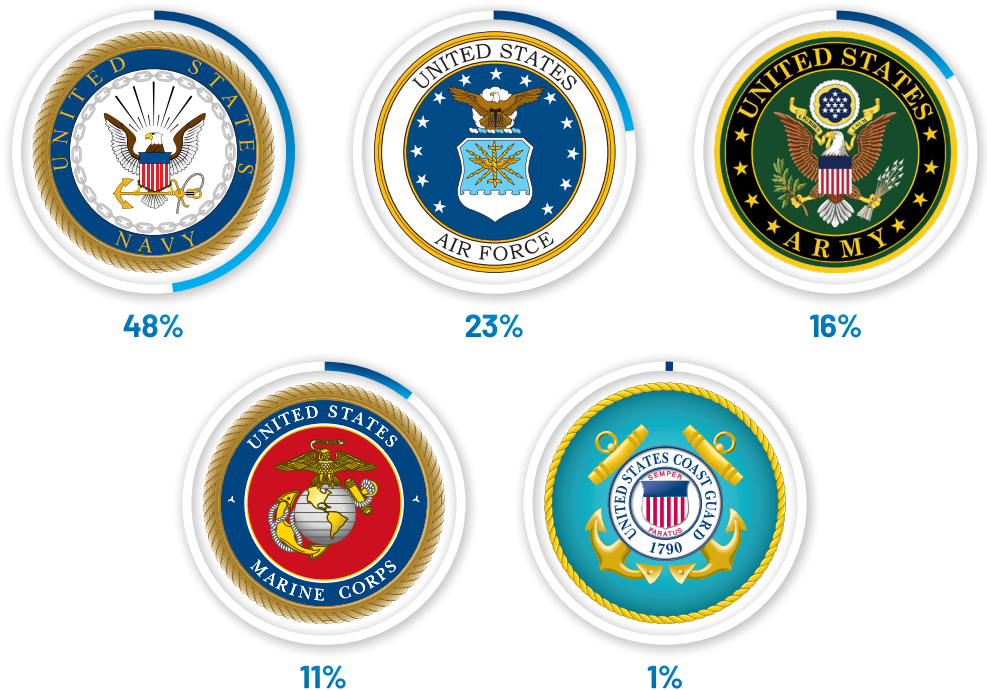

Launched in 2017, this new and innovative technical retraining program — called the Academy of Advanced Manufacturing — is rapidly upskilling and redeploying U.S. veterans across high-demand, technology-based roles in as little as four months.

Rockwell Automation and ManpowerGroup partnership

Rockwell Automation is the world's leader in industrial automation solutions. ManpowerGroup is the world's leader in workforce solutions. Blake Moret, Chairman and CEO of Rockwell Automation, and Jonas Prising, Chairman and CEO of ManpowerGroup, joined together to pool resources, expertise and talent to find a solution to prepare veterans to meet the industrial needs of tomorrow.

Military branches represented

Time in service average 6.2 years

120 graduates from 6 cohort classes. 94% are in career-advancing jobs.

After 12 weeks of training, graduates are working at companies like:

and others*

Earning an annual salary of $50k – $80k

IN ROLES
LIKE

Controls Technician
Maintenance Technician
Electro-Mechanical Technician
Maintenance Supervisor

For more information about the AAM program contact:
AAM@rockwellautomation.com

