

With minubo, we are at the forefront of digitalization in retail and manufacturing. With our innovative approach of the minubo Commerce Intelligence Cloud as a tailor-made product solution for business intelligence and analytics in commerce companies, we make an important contribution to enabling comprehensive value creation from data – and thus to the further development of the industry. With minubo, international customers such as Intersport, Betty Barclay, Decathlon, and tesa are establishing better, data-driven processes and thus create the prerequisites for success in tomorrow's retail world. To achieve this, we rely on analytics and commerce know-how, big data technologies, agile development, excellent customer service, and a strong team spirit. Become part of our team in Hamburg!

Java Full-Stack Developer (m/f/d)

Your Tasks

- Further development of the Frontend and Backend functionality of our Commerce Intelligence Suite – consisting of e.g. Angular Client, REST API, reporting, analysis, segmentation, and algorithmically generated data insights.
- Conception and development of new features in a team of developers, product managers and domain experts.
- Integration of the services offered by Amazon Web Services (AWS) into our infrastructure
- Further development and maintenance of processes within the scope of deployment and monitoring.

Your Profile

- You have a degree with a focus on computer science or a comparable education.
- You have several years of experience as a software developer.
- Ideally, you already have experience in some of the following areas: Angular and REST API as well as No-SQL databases like Elasticsearch or Mongo-DB.
- You can independently drive projects forward and lead them to success through active coordination with developers, product managers and the management team.
- Good English skills round off your profile.

Your Benefits

- Team: Working at minubo means being part of a great team that sticks together and enjoys pursuing their joint mission just as much as having lunch or regular team events together.
- Work Atmosphere: As a grown start-up, we offer flat hierarchies in a dynamic work atmosphere where every idea is welcome.
- New Challenges: Our innovative product and the evolving industry offer diverse tasks and new, exciting challenges.
- Flexibility: In order to ensure a healthy work-life-balance for our team, we offer flexible work hours. Everyone is free to adapt their day according to their personal preferences.

- Responsibility: Everyone at minubo is invited to take over their own responsibilities and projects. We appreciate that we are all responsible for minubo's success.
- Career Development: We support our employees' individual career objectives to the best of our ability. Wishes for educational programs and the purchase of books are always welcome – we will try to make it happen!
- Permanent Contracts: We offer permanent contracts.
- Central Location: Our office is located in the heart of Hamburg - between the harbour and city centre with a variety of lunch options.
- HVV: We support our employees' public transportation tickets (HVV). Due to our central location, our office is easily accessible with public transportation.
- Sponsored Sport: We provide sponsored company sport offers at Fitness First and the Urban Sports Club.
- Company Pension Scheme: We offer a company pension scheme.

We are looking forward to receiving your application including salary request and possible starting date.

Email: recruiting@minubo.com