MACHINE SAFETY SOLUTIONS

Our vision is to become your partner for machine safety – on a global level locally, developing innovative products and solutions for machine safety. Our integrated products and solutions make it simple for you to build safety systems that will control risks and protect people.

ABB offers a complete portfolio of products and solutions dedicated to machine safety: drives, robots, PLCs, control and safety products. We have great experience of the practical application of safety requirements and standards, thanks to long collaboration with both authorities and customers.

We deliver everything from safety products to complete safety systems for single machines or entire production lines. We combine production demands with safety requirements. Many industries around the world have discovered how much more easily they can build safety systems with our products and guidance. Our experience is at your disposal to improve your machine safety.
