CAAS ACCREDITATION

CAAS (Commission of Accreditation of Ambulance Services) has emerged as the leading standard of organization to encourage and promote excellence in patient care within the ambulance service industry. Agencies with CAAS Accreditation immediately stand-out for their commitment to organization, high standards and meticulous attention to detail. To achieve and maintain this standard, CAAS requires detailed record keeping and regular recertification. Using Operative IQ in your day-to-day operations can help make this process easier.

Would it be helpful to move away from paper documents and the need to search through file cabinets? Are you interested in tightening up your inventory management and asset tracking? Would you like to streamline your controlled substance documentation to achieve a higher standard?

Consolidate your operations management records in one place. Operative IQ's user-friendly solution helps you capture and report on your fleet maintenance, purchasing, inventory usage, asset management, and complete narcotics chain of custody data in one central location. Our reporting functionality allows you to pull necessary documentation in minutes!
