The Ultimate Training and Networking Event

Up to speed with all that is new within your operations management software?
Are you on the front end of all the current technology and best practices within your industry?

“ It was a blast, and I took a lot out of it that was super helpful for me. I would suggest anyone that hasn't been, make sure you go.”
~Dena Lovett, Forsyth County EMS

ENGAGE 2020 can help you!

Register to attend ENGAGE 2020 April 20-22, 2020 in Atlanta, Georgia, held in the heart of Braves country at the Omni Hotel at the Battery steps from SunTrust Park.

Operative IQ's hands-on , ENGAGE-ing session will cover:

- Product Training Sessions - streamline your Operative IQ best practices and learn about emerging new technologies through trainings hosted by our staff and a unique session with CEO EJ Aufderheide.
- Peer-to-Peer Sessions - Get an inside look into how other operations employ Operative IQ while exchanging tips and tricks that you can implement within your operation.
- Keynote Sessions - Hear from thought leaders as they impart a unique perspective on the changing first response field.

By attending, you will gain more than just access to live sessions. You will also have the opportunity to network with 200+ first response innovators and professionals. However, don't let the development opportunities cloud the fun that will be at your fingertips. Amidst all the learning, you will be able to take breaks to check out the Battery and attend ENGAGE networking events.

Networking with Peers

For those who have attended the ENGAGE conference in the past, you know that there is no shortage of networking opportunities - from attending the sessions to parties and receptions. We encourage you to come with a colleague because we will have back to back sessions.

Even if you are great at multitasking - you might want the extra eyes and information from various areas. Walk away from this event with a lot of knowledge, a hand full of contact and possibility of new friends.

Some of the ENGAGE networking opportunities will include:

Welcome Reception - Meet fellow attendees, speakers, partners and the full Operative IQ staff for a welcome reception on April 20, 2020 for a fun evening to network and start the conference off with a bang.

Breaks and Meals - Chat with someone new over coffee or lunch. During our luncheons, meet fellow attendees from your region and those with similar interests.

Extracurricular Activities - We will have a handful of events around the Battery where you can break away with your family or friends.

Product Focused Sessions

Did you know that there have been regular updates to the Operative IQ software with feedback from attendees just like you? We say “Designed around the way you Work” for a reason. Our staff always want to make sure you have the highest value of client success.

During ENGAGE 2020, we look forward to hearing your feedback on the software and its updates Are you getting the most out of our features and functions? Well, say no more, our ENGAGE training tracks will help you deepen your knowledge and provide some practical steps you can easily apply to improve your processes.
