

Mark Bamber

Advisory Partner

mark.bamber@nexiabt.com

In January 2018, Mark Bamber joined Nexia BT as Partner leading the firm's advisory department.

His joining Nexia BT follows a twenty-year career in KPMG in Malta and overseas, where he advised clients in both the public and private sectors, and was also entrusted with the setting up of a professional firm in Libya serving government entities and multinational companies.

An experienced economist, with a long track record in management and consultancy leadership roles in Malta and overseas, Mark holds an MBA from Henley Business School; an MSc in Financial Economics from the London School of Economics; and is currently developing his doctoral research on global FDI flows and their impact on macroeconomic parameters and the quality of life in islands and small states.

Nexia BT's advisory arm offers a wide range of services including strategy and management consultancy; economics advisory services; and corporate services. Mr. Bamber brings to the table a creative approach, strong problem-solving skills, and a commitment to cost-effective client service, combined with a track record of business over three decades and a deep experience of international business and international expansion.

As members of Nexia International present in 115 countries around the world, Nexia BT Advisory offers a comprehensive package of professional services, helping clients seize essential advantages by working to solve their toughest challenges and capture their greatest opportunities.