Trained as a classical pianist starting at age eight, Joan has been playing and singing popular music her entire life. She has always been drawn to this great music, and remembers feeling compelled to play any piano in sight (even when not invited!) and to sing whenever she could. She recalls once enjoying a great jazz band playing "Embraceable You" at Baltimore's Inner Harbor years ago. She spontaneously started singing while in the audience. Before she knew it, she was invited up to sing with the band and became part of the entertainment. Joan's repertoire includes songs from the 1920s to the present, with a special passion for Broadway music and the Great American Songbook, especially the Gershwins, Cole Porter, Rodgers and Hart, Jerome Kern, and Irving Berlin. She has performed at restaurants, country clubs, senior citizens centers, and private homes. She speaks French fluently and often sings French songs when asked. Plan on attending this enjoyable concert on Thursday, September 28th. at 8:00 PM in the Ringling Room.
