

Dell Boomi AtomSphere® Services

Software and data integrations are critical components of any SAP SuccessFactors implementation and can achieve efficiencies and scalability while maximizing the return on your SAP investment. If your organization has selected Dell Boomi AtomSphere® as its integration platform, you already understand its ability to connect any combination of cloud, SaaS, or on-premise applications without the need for complex code.

The Dell Boomi platform delivers enterprise-grade integrations using drag-and-drop workflows, along with pre-built connectors to many applications, such as SAP SuccessFactors. Boomi is also an ideal tool for building custom integrations to other internal and third-party applications that your business depends on.

The Boomi-certified developers at 3D Results provide a full range of Boomi services for all your SAP SuccessFactors integration needs.

Our Services

Every enterprise ecosystem has different integration requirements, so we take a holistic approach to understanding your requirements across the many applications that support your business. We work side-by-side with your implementation team to ensure that the integrations are designed to best serve the configurations in each module.

Each integration is developed using a rigorous 7-step process that encompasses kick-off planning through deployment and testing of the integration. 3D Results employs a collaborative process that respects your ideas and combines them with our best practice recommendations.

To expedite development, 3D Results has pre-built Boomi integrations with 15+ vendors and makes use of pre-packaged iFlows provided by SAP. We've completed integrations for systems and functions, such as:

- Assessments
- Background checks
- Drug/medical screening
- Automation/auto-progression of applications
- Virtual interviewing
- Payroll/HRIS
- Benefits
- Reminders/notifications
- Onboarding/I-9
- Relocation
- Data warehousing/business intelligence tools
- Notification using SMS/IVR/email

When you partner with 3D Results, you get an expert team with in-depth knowledge in integrating your cloud HCM solution with mission-critical systems. We also offer monitoring services to ensure your integrations remain operational when systems are changed or updated. To discuss your integration needs, contact your 3D Results representative.
