

Employee Engagement Workshop for Managers

Boosting employee morale, motivation and performance

Exceptional Teams have highly engaged employees who feel part of the team and like their job. They find their work stimulating and a challenge that enables them to make progress towards pre-determined goals and feel confident in their ability to achieve them. Engaged employees understand how their work makes a positive difference and feel acknowledged for their contribution to team success.

As the primary motivator in a team, it's imperative for a team leader to be able to keep their people engaged and motivated. This workshop will show you how.

Participants will learn how to:

- Encourage team members to show pride in their work and use discretionary effort to get the job done.
- Empower employees to take responsibility and show initiative.
- Develop processes and practices to ensure that people feel they are making progress.
- Create an environment that enables people to get enjoyment from their work.
