Welcome to the HubSpot Solutions Partner Program

Welcome to the HubSpot Solutions Partner Program. You're now an integral piece of our expansive ecosystem of partners and providers, growing and scaling their businesses with HubSpot.

Back in 2010, HubSpot's original Agency Partner Program was created for marketing agencies all over the globe to help their customers grow through the inbound methodology. At the time, you could win customers with just great product. But now, it takes building a complete customer experience on top of that.

That's why ten years later in 2020, we've expanded our program beyond marketing to build a diverse ecosystem of partners equipped to enable anything. I've witnessed this transformation firsthand, being part of the partner program since the very beginning.

Use the resources in this guide to help you build inbound customer experiences for your clients and differentiate yourself as a trusted partner who can serve as the backbone to their strategy. You'll also find more about the perks and benefits you'll amass as you progress through the program tier levels.

You're now part of our joint mission of helping millions of organisations grow better. We look forward to partnering with you to make this possible. Watching your growth, and that of your customers, is what makes our work so rewarding.

Sincerely,

Katie Ng-Mak

VP, Solutions Partner Program

About Our Tiers

Solutions Partner Program tiers represent your growth path and are a way for you to differentiate yourself within the program.

We determine your tier level based on a combination of metrics, including sold and managed monthly recurring revenue (MRR), retention, software engagement and actual inbound marketing success. Learn more.

To see how tier benefits compare at a glance, review the chart on pages 6-7. To find out your tier, visit your partner portal. You'll notice we reference both providers and partners throughout this document. So, what's the difference? The provider package is essentially a starter package to the program. It's a low-commitment way to get started selling and servicing HubSpot. To scale up and become a partner, there's a different set of requirements you'll need to meet. Once you're a partner, you can begin your growth path up the tiers (gold, platinum, diamond and elite) based on your performance in the program.

Although tiers are designed to show your growth as a HubSpot partner, they don't tell your full story. Tiers show depth in selling and servicing, but don't help identify which products and subject matter you have expertise in. This is where partner certifications and your directory profile comes in. Learn more about this on page 9.
