

Scott Hunter

Scott Hunter, BEE, JD, CSP has been transforming organizations for over two decades, through keynote speeches, workshops, retreats and management team coaching.

Since 1985 Scott has helped improve hundreds of businesses by delivering over 1,000 speeches and developing over 250,000 individuals as a coach and speaker. He has conducted over 200 corporate retreats for groups from 2 to 44, consistently coaching participants to breakthroughs in their personal and professional lives. He sets the bar high for the companies he works with by pushing them to achieve results surpassing beyond their expectations.

Following receipt of an engineering degree from the City University of New York, Scott spent four years working in the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office in Washington, DC while attending George Washington Law School at night. He graduated in the top 10% of his class and moved to California to open his own law practice.

However, Scott was looking for more. He began researching what it takes for people to produce extraordinary results in their personal lives and careers. He also dove into what it takes for companies to break through to new levels of profitability and success.

In 1984, Scott decided to retire from his law practice so he could focus on helping other companies succeed. Using what he learned, he realized he could coach others toward their own success goals by avoiding costly, time-consuming detours. He created a 15-step system to deliver repeatable results and he has been sharing this system for the last 25+ years.

Scott speaks to thousands of people each year and shares advice with CEOs of corporations of all sizes. His book, Unshackled Leadership has received successful reviews and garnered a following among executives, professionals, and students. He's been recognized as a leadership "expert" on over 50 radio talk shows and has appeared on numerous television news programs. In 2007, he was recognized for excellence by the National Speakers Association and was awarded the Certified Speaking Professional designation.

Scott continues to work to stretch the limits of his knowledge and his capabilities while making time for his favorite avocation: cycling trips to explore new countries and scenes around the world.
