

Workplace by Facebook Full Deployment Solution

The key differentiator with Workplace is that it is a very familiar and easy-to-use platform for employees to engage with. However, to ensure that the platform is successful for both the short and long-term, it's critical to take the time and plan out your deployment. By doing so, you can ensure that the launch of the technology itself, the communication around that launch, and the training of your employees on how to use this new technology is a success.
