ORGANIZATION: WEBSITE:

ORGANIZATION OVERVIEW:

Invisible Hands is a group of volunteers working together to shop and deliver groceries to those at risk or reluctant to shop in today's climate. The organization ensures that volunteers take the necessary safety precautions while shopping and helps coordinate contactless delivery to all customers. Currently, Invisible Hands is available across New York City, parts of northern NJ, LA, and the SF-Bay area.

TELL US ABOUT YOUR INVOLVEMENT:

I learned about Invisible Hands while watching the news over the weekend. For a small volunteer group they are highly efficient and organized. They coordinate all new requests via Slack by neighborhood and based on your location (see pic).

I am part of the Manhattan-West Village-Chelsea group, which has completed 21 requests since Sunday. I've had the opportunity to conduct two trips (one to TJ's and another to CVS) for an elderly couple in Chelsea. If you are interested in joining, I encourage you to visit their website or reach out to:
