

Parks and Recreation

For all your facility building needs

Easi-Set provides an array of modular building solutions for Parks and Recreation officials, facilities managers, landscape architects, and more. These precast concrete buildings are durable, secure, and virtually maintenance-free. They are also competitively priced to keep your project costs in check. From baseball and softball dugouts to restroom facilities and even guard houses, we make it easy to get your job done on-spec, on-time, and on-budget. Our modular buildings are designed to go up fast but stand up to almost anything. That includes destructive weather, sharp line drives, and the test of time. There's no size project too large or too small for our producers, they will cater their level involvement in the construction process to your needs.
